SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A black mammy with a large laundry basket is being sought by the Oakland police and apartment house dwellers. She is accused of having robbed numerous apartments during the last week, entering them during their owners' absence on the pretense of delivering the weekly wash. She stole $50 and a $100 gold watch from the apartment of Miss Helena Hewett and Miss Eleanor Frankton at 307 Twenty-first avenue, Oakland. Miss Frankton refused to find the mammy in her apartment, but accepted her apology that she had entered by mistake.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 16.—Reading, Cal., was chosen for the 1924 convention of the Ancient Egyptian order of Scots when San Francisco and Reno delegations withdrew from the convention contest. Four proposals for founding benevolent agencies were taken under consideration today by the supreme pyramid.

A Masonic playground in El Dorado National Forest was suggested by the Sacramento Pyramid, which offered a site. The Reno delegation urged establishment of a convalescent home for Masons in San Francisco.

The Dunsuir Pyramid proposed an educational program for mentally deficient children. A fresh air farm for sick or maimed children was urged by the San Mateo delegates.

The order at present has no organized charity, although considerable relief work has been done by individual pyramids.

JAIL ATTORNEY
AS BLACKMAIL
PLOT AIRED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Bail of $5,000 was today set for Herman L. Roth, Hollywood and New York attorney, charged with attempting to extort $20,000 from Barbara La Marr, film star, under threat of filing a defamatory divorce complaint against her. Roth was expected to post the amount, and be released from jail today, pending the grand jury hearing of the charges.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Herman L. Roth, prominent Hollywood and New York attorney, was being held incommunicado today following his arrest on a charge of attempting to extort $20,000 from Barbara La Marr, beautiful film star.

Roth, it is charged, threatened to file an amended complaint in the divorce suit brought against the actress by N. Bernard Deely, a former husband, in which thirty-seven prominent picture people were to be named as co-respondents.

The amended complaint, investigators charged, was designed by Roth to stain the reputation of Miss La Marr in case she refused to comply with Roth's demands.

Deely, through Roth, had previously charged in the original complaint that Miss La Marr had deserted him. He also named Jack Dougherty, the actress' present husband, whom she married May 5 last, as co-respondent.

Arthur H. Sawyer, head of the Sawyer-Lubin Film corporation, by whom Miss La Marr is employed, laid the lines for Roth's arrest. Sawyer is said to have paid him $100 two days as an initial payment. Yesterday he gave Roth $400 in marked bills which were found on the attorney when investigators of the district attorney's office arrested him. This money will be used in evidence, it is said.

Miss La Marr's marital status has been in a tangle the past several years due to her marriage to Deely in Chicago, which occurred shortly after Philip Ainsworth, a previous husband, filed suit here. Deely was arrested shortly after the arrest of Roth but was later released when investigators said they believed his story in which he declared he had no knowledge of any attempt by Roth to blackmail Miss La Marr.

SAY BOLSHEVIK
GOVERNMENT
UNPOPULAR

Los Angeles, Nov.—The majority of the people of Russia don't like the Bolshevik government, but they are afraid to overthrow it for fear of something worse in the administrative affairs of the nation, according to E. W. Rankin, who recently returned from a business trip in Russia.

"The government is composed of intellectuals and labor leaders", Rankin said. "The peasants and laborers submit to the government through fear, but mostly because it is much easier for them to live under the Bolshevik regime than that of the Czar."

"All of the news coming from Russia is subjected to government censorship, consequently the outside world doesn't learn the truth about the country. However, much can be said in favor of the government and I believe it is set much more firmly than at any time in the past two years."

"The government itself is atheistic, but it does not discriminate in the faiths, nor does it seriously tend to discourage worship although there is some propaganda spread unfavorably to religion."

"The Moscow university has 20,000 students, but it is the communist classmen who get the special favors."

Becker should bring suit for divorce I will accept the sum of $5000 as in full payment for all claims of alimony, attorneys' fees and court costs, and said Edward C. He said Minnesota spent $30,000,000 and $10,000,000 for freight last year for lumber bought outside the state which could have been milled in Minnesota if its forests had been conserved.

STOMACH TROUBLES
ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development of secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial stimulants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

POLY DEBATERS IN DUAL MATCH LOSS

Santa Ana high school debate teams lost twice this morning, the affirmative team bowing to Huntington Beach orators at the high school here and the negative taking the short end of the verdict at Anaheim union high school. The question debated in each instance was "Resolved that the United States should prohibit all immigration for a period of five years."

Miss Dorothy Clarkson and Walter Thomason were the team which lost to the beach debaters here, the judges voting 3 to 0. William Berry and Miss Betty Hazelton defended the Huntington Beach honors. The judges were C. C. Smith, Charles C. Chapman and J. R. Payne.

At Anaheim, Gerald Price and Robert O'Brien lost to Ronald Anderson and Lawren Wright, the judges voting 2 to 1 for the latter pair.

Today's debates marked Santa Ana's initial contests in the Orange County league debates. Elmer T. Worthy coaches the local squad.

Household Economics

FOURTH SECTION
Thanksgiving dinners at which the great national bird reigns supreme, were suggested by the delectable luncheon at which members of Ebell's fourth section Household Economics were seated early in the week as guests of Mrs. O. A. Haley, Mrs. George Richardson and Mrs. John Bernman at the Haley home on East Washington street.

The delectable menu which opened with a fruit cocktail and ran its course through roast turkey with dressing and cranberry sauce, snowy mashed potatoes and the dessert course of English plum pudding was a remarkable lesson in that economy which is the raison d'etre of the section's existence.

The hostesses outlined the cost of the meal in response to their guests' expressions of doubt as to its being within the limit set for expenditures. Careful and economical buying had made the venture a most successful one, to the great interest of those who enjoyed it.

Almost the entire list of members gathered for the event and each contributed freely to the Day Nursery. The topical roll-call added its usual interest to the afternoon.

SECOND SECTION
Tea la Russe greeted the members of Ebell's second section Household Economics Wednesday as they met at the home of Mrs. M. A. Patton to enjoy luncheon with Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Marshall Keeler and Mrs. Frederick Eley. The Russian tea formed a pleasant introduction to the typically Russian dishes of the luncheon served at 1 o'clock and followed by roll call on current events in that land of the Red Flag.

Mrs. Nat Neff read an interesting paper on the life of "Women in Russia," in which she spoke of the preference given to men in all matters pertaining to education. Mrs. Bruce Monroe in "Art and Culture among the Women of Russia" elaborated on the music and particularly the ballet dancing.

An excellent magazine article read by Mrs. Eley, told of the latest developments in the government of the country as well as in all social and political conditions there.

Twenty members present voted it a most profitable and interesting session and two guests also enjoyed the afternoon, Miss Betty Carter and Mrs. C. Sanasace.

Past Noble Grands

A delightful afternoon resulted for members of the Past Noble Grands of Torosa Rebekah lodge when they responded yesterday to invitations issued by Mrs. Vada Pankey, Mrs. Susan Mullinix and Mrs. Amelia Prather.

The Pankey home on North Broadway was decked with varicolored chrysanthemums for the occasion and after the brief business session, an enjoyable social hour was devoted to needlework and friendly conversation.

Creamed oysters in patty shells offered the delicious hot dish of the menu served at the tea hour while home made cake and coffee formed the final course.

The birthday of one whom the association claims as "its oldest and dearest member," Mrs. Dora Higbie, was fittingly observed when a beautiful potted cyclamen was presented her by the little club with Mrs. Irene Mitchell making the presentation talk. Mrs. Higbie responded in her usual charming manner despite the emotions aroused by the gift.

Enjoying the happy afternoon with Mrs. Pankey, Mrs. Mullinix and Mrs. Prather were Mesdames Alta Benson, Sarah C. Griffiths, Mary E. Cooper, Ida Carey, Irene Mitchell, Mary L. Ford, Isabelle Buck, Dora C. Higbie, Mattie Bowers and Maud Swarthout.

The Toy Store of the town is now open in Ramona Bldg., 423 North Sycamore St.

Bridge Affairs Yield Two Gay Afternoons In Succession

Two successive days were given over to social pleasures in the beautiful C. M. McCain home, 2028 North Main street, when Mrs. McCain and Mrs. Adrian McCain were hostesses at bridge.

The first affair was that of Wednesday when the guests responded to luncheon invitations. They found the home arranged with bowls of vivid autumn leaves which offered an unusually harmonious effect in the carefully planned Italian interior.

Baby chrysanthemums in yellow, orange, red and bronze tints graced the tables where an appetizing luncheon menu of oyster cocktail, cold meats with potatoes au gratin, hot biscuits, watermelon preserves and a sweets course of Bavarian cream, lady fingers and coffee was enjoyed.

Eight tables were arranged for the luncheon and the afternoon of bridge which followed. Pretty gifts were awarded the holders of the three high scores, Mrs. J. K. Hermon, Mrs. W. A. Flood and Mrs. Mark Lacy.

Mrs. John Irvin assisted the hostesses throughout the afternoon as she did again yesterday together with Mrs. Elmer Preston when a second guest group was entertained at a delightful bridge tea. The same decorative autumnal appointments were used and nine tables were employed for bridge.

Mrs. W. A. Flood again scored among the winners, yesterday being so fortunate as to hold high score. Attractive gifts were also bestowed on Mrs. Earl Abbey and Mrs. Willard Swarthout.

At the tea hour, the hostesses served a delectable menu of salads and cold meats with fluffy tea biscuits.

Mrs. McCain and her daughter-in-law, one of the popular young matrons of the city, have been co-hostesses on many occasions and promise many more pleasant affairs from time to time. Mrs. Adrian McCain and Mrs. Nelson Edgar also joined in a series of gay affairs earlier in the season.

Fraternal Brotherhood

When Santa Ana Lodge, Fraternal Brotherhood, met last night in regular session with a good attendance, much important business was transacted and plans for a big meeting on Nov. 22 were completed.

W. L. Huey of Los Angeles was present, and gave a nice talk. He is here on special work for a few days.

Report was made that Mrs. Frances Bartle, who has been confined to her bed by sickness for about three weeks, is improving nicely and the physician in charge stated she would be able to sit up a short time tomorrow. There was also a report that a brother of N. L. Galbraith passed away yesterday at a hospital in Long Beach.

Ebell Travelers

The usual session of Ebell's Second Travel section scheduled for Monday, November 19 has been postponed on account of the hostesses for the day being called from the city. Upon their return, a new date for the November session will be selected and will be announced later.

District Convention Of Clubwomen Draws To a Close

Attracting clubwomen from all communities of the Southern District Federation of Women's clubs, the four-day sessions closing today at Riverside has called many Santa Ana enthusiasts to enjoy the excellent programs from day to day.

Picturesque Mission Inn offered its most beautiful aspect to the 500 women gathered for the event which introduced to the members of the district, their general federation president, Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, whose excellent address yesterday marked the climax of the session.

Mrs. Kenneth D. Oliver, district president, conducted every session with grace and dignity and strengthened the already existing friendships between the communities comprising the district. Mrs. John C. Urquhart, state president, was declared to appear to excellent advantage yesterday morning as she presented her theme of "The Spiritual Force of Understanding."

The same theme was accented in reports given by the five county presidents, including that of Mrs. E. E. Knight of Orange, president of Orange County Federation.

Among the interesting and deeply interested women attending from Santa Ana was Mrs. W. L. Deimling, district auditor and also chairman of the resolutions committee. Of the resolutions which passed this committee and were to be voted upon today at the final sessions, the one creating the keenest interest was that the Mexican border both at Mexcala and Tijuana be closed at 9 o'clock nightly.

Other resolutions were to the effect that representatives in Congress be urged to press the passage of a law giving immigration officers the authority to prevent crossing the border by minor children unless accompanied by parents or guardians; to prevent subjecting the youth to drinking, gambling and the vices prevalent at these two points.

Riverside county was indorsed as the logical place in which the University of California should establish its southern agricultural college; the Swing-Johnson bill was indorsed; a protest against unsightly billboards everywhere in the district; an amendment to the constitution whereby child labor may be restricted by Congress; recommendation that a department of arts and crafts be added to the district.

Last night's banquet at Mission Inn was the high light socially of the different pleasant events connected with the convention. Mrs. Winter was of course accorded the place of honor. Among the toasts proposed was that to "California" to which Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, president of Ebell Society of Santa Ana valley gave a delightful response.

Mrs. Crookshank was in attendance at practically all the sessions together with many Santa Ana and Orange county executives including Mrs. R. Clarkson Coleman of Laguna Beach, chairman of art; Mrs. John Clarkson, chairman of citizenship; Mrs. Flora Pyle, chairman of endowment; Mrs. Roy Arundell of Huntington Beach, chairman of good roads; Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, district press chairman and Mrs. E. E. Knight of Orange, county president.

Others from this city who attended various sessions included Mrs. F. H. Finney, president of the Santa Ana Woman's club; and Mesdames N. A. Beals, Alice Hatch, Hervey T. Trueblood, Martha J. Marks, C. F. Smith, O. M. Robb, Ruth Tiffany, Edward M. Nealley, John Gowen, S. M. Davis, L. C. Fairbanks, S. W. Nau, J. P. Baumgartner, John Clarkson, C. F. Crose, J. W. McCormack, James Clark, H. Clemens and L. H. Leslie.

Children may still enroll in the class for correction of speech defects to be held Saturday mornings from 10 until 12 o'clock. Lois A. Thresher, instructor.

Big Bear Honeymoon Follows Wedding Of Saturday

Home from a delightful little honeymoon trip to Big Bear, Mr. and Mrs. Julius N. Peterson were today receiving the congratulations and happy wishes of hosts of friends who were interested in their wedding of Saturday, November 10 and their occupancy of a pretty home at 1246 Maple avenue.

Mrs. Peterson was formerly Miss Grace C. Simmons, daughter of L. E. Coleman of Redlands and an extremely popular girl here where she was a student at the Santa Ana High school, later making many friends by her courtesy and friendliness at Mullins' store.

Mr. Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Peterson of 411 Orange avenue and is credit man with the Smart and Final Wholesale Grocery company.

Unattended, he and his bride went to the Methodist Episcopal parsonage Saturday evening where they took their wedding vows before the pastor, the Rev. Will A. Betts. The affair was given a romantic touch by their costumes, for disdaining the conventional wedding garb, the young people were dressed in outing clothes and immediately after the ceremony making them man and wife, departed on their motor honeymoon to Big Bear.

Planned by Daughters To Honor Mother Is Birthday Affair

Mrs. John Rudolph of 910 Hickory street was given a very complete and happy surprise yesterday afternoon, when a company of friends arrived at the pretty new home to felicitate her on her birthday.

Mrs. Rudolph's two daughters, Mrs. Michael Lynch and Mrs. Charles J. Stack carried out the arrangements so successfully that their mother did not suspect the plot until almost the entire number of invited guests had arrived.

The afternoon hours sped swiftly with progressive whist. Mrs. Antonio Borchard and Mrs. Lopez winning the prizes.

Mrs. Rudolph was presented with a number of appreciated gifts from her friends. The hostesses served a dainty collation of fruit salad, nut bread sandwiches and homemade cakes.

Those enjoying the event were Mesdames Joseph Young, Charles Bevis, H. A. Shugart, Antonio Borchard, Charles Borchard, Charles Schmiedberg, George W. Young, Olive Lopez, George Lester, C. D. F. J. Wagner, the Misses Anna Young and Mary Borchard of Oxford.

A family birthday dinner at noon also commemorated the event.

Rosario was charged with possession of a concealed weapon in his store.

Banker's Friends Elated

"Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble which steadily became worse. I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation and on advice of a friend tried Mary's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results as since taking it about 2 years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Adv.

Royal Arch Masons Are Royal Hosts To the Ladies

Proving themselves royal hosts as well as Royal Arch Masons, the officers of the Santa Ana chapter last night entertained their wives, the matrons and matrons-elect of local Eastern Star chapters and the wives of visiting Santa Ana officers at a 6:30 dinner and theater party while special degree work was being exemplified in a lodge session in the chapter room of the Masonic temple.

The local Eastern Star matrons and the wives of the Royal Arch officers were hostesses by courtesy at the delightful events of the evening and formed a friendly receiving line at the temple to greet the visitors from the Southland. The dinner served in the banquet room of the temple under the direction of Mrs. Clara Bullock was a delicious one and was followed by a few minutes friendly chat in the parlors where the feminine members of the party repaired to the hostess where a large party was held.

Following the enjoyment of the theater party, way was led to Ketter's cafe where the gold room offered setting for a social hour during which ices and sweets were enjoyed.

The greater number of visiting Santa Anas returned to that city late last night, some few remaining until daylight hours and planning a more leisurely return today.

Enjoying the affair from the double standpoint of guests and of honorary hostesses were Mrs. Louis Butterfield, wife of the high priest of the Santa Ana Royal Arch Masons, Mrs. Verne W. Whitson, matron of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S.; Mrs. James T. Carter, matron of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S.; Mrs. Carl Mock, matron-elect of Santa Ana chapter, Mrs. F. C. Rowland, matron-elect of Hermosa chapter, Mesdames Charles S. Mitchell, Carl Kaufman, W. L. Kaufman, Asa Hoffman, Robert White, Charles Brown and C. Edwin Gessey.

Santa Ana guests were Mesdames E. A. Lobenstein, James P. Haymer, E. M. Kinney, James Cotal, Rea M. Stocklan, Mollie Bellnap, W. P. Owens, and Mary D. Kaul.

Education as it will be many years in the future was outlined and prophesied by H. G. Nelson, principal of the Frances Willard Junior high school, yesterday afternoon at the high school P. T. A. meeting in the Y. W. C. A. hut.

When children during their first four years will be taught songs, proverbs and games, designed by experts to bring out their greatest development, when they will go to the mountains from six years to eight and study nature first hand, when drill, such as writing and arithmetic will not start until ten years, then will be the idealistic education of which the modernist dreams today.

"There will be no repression, but all will be expression," said Principal Nelson as he brought out some of his startling ideas of what the future holds for children's education.

Mrs. Sallie Powell, president of the association called upon Mrs. Lena Morgan of the high school faculty for a violin solo, in which she was accompanied by Miss Margaret Wickes, also of the music department.

The association passed a resolution to take up the matter of providing a piano for the Y. W. C. A. hut and decided that the major part of all future meetings should be devoted to a program with the social hour to precede the meeting.

Pretty Dinner Party Marks Return From Motor Honeymoon

A pleasant honeymoon motor trip which included short stops at all points of interest between Santa Barbara and San Diego was brought to a conclusion last night by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lieser with a delightful little dinner en famille at the Kinsler apartments where the young couple are domiciled.

Leaving early last Thursday morning, Mr. Lieser and his bride, Miss Aletha Gains accompanied by the former's mother, Mrs. C. D. Chamberlain motored to Anaheim where a pretty wedding breakfast was served at the Oyster Loaf. Proceeding alone to Los Angeles the happy couple were married by the Rev. F. L. Lelise of the Methodist church at the corner of Eighth and Hope streets.

Miss Gains had been a comparative newcomer to the city, coming here from Chillicothe, Missouri, following her graduation last June from the Chillicothe high school. She has won many friends by the charm of her personality especially among the patrons of the Kelly drug store where she has been employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lieser plan to remain at the Kestner apartments only temporarily for Mr. Lieser will resume ranching when negotiations for the exchange of his Baker street ranch are completed.

BURNHAM AIRS VIEWS AS TO VOTE STATUS

"There is absolutely no reason for questioning the legality of recent registration of voters at Newport Beach."

This was the declaration of William H. Burnham, chairman of the Newport Beach Taxpayers' league, at Pasadena today, according to United Press dispatches. Burnham was commenting upon the row raging in Orange county over the coming referendum election at Newport Beach and Balboa, on the proposal to permit oil tankers to load there.

Burnham has a home in Pasadena, and because of this, was declared by those favoring the commercial move unqualified to vote. "After having obtained competent legal advice from several attorneys we are absolutely satisfied that these people have not only a perfect right to establish Newport Beach as their permanent legal residence, but in registering, have also

COUNCILMEN TO HEAR WOMEN'S NURSE PLEA

Excellent progress is being made in the campaign to obtain a city nurse for the city of Santa Ana, according to Mrs. L. G. Swales, one of those who expect to present the matter before the city council at its meeting next Monday night. "Santa Ana is behind the times in this regard," Mrs. Swales declared today. "As the old adage goes, 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' and on account of her investigations a city nurse would be able to stop many serious epidemics. Her duties would also be to go into the homes of the poor unable to pay for the services of a doctor. She would also be to go into the knowledge of cleanliness and sanitation to those who, through lack of education, disregard the laws of health.

"Several teams of women, all prominent in local women's clubs, are working diligently to secure co-operation of all the local organizations in putting their plan before the council. Local organizations who are fostering the plan to appoint a city nurse are the Chamber of Commerce, the Lion's, Rotary and Delphian clubs, and also the local branch of the Red Cross.

"The plan is to go before the city council next Monday night and the workers are putting forth additional efforts to have passed this measure."

Seek Eloquent Cleric On Bad Check Charge

REDDING, Nov. 14.—Police are hunting for Rev. A. R. Kent, 50, who came to Shasta county three weeks ago to take charge of the Methodist churches at Kennett and Castella. He is wanted for cashing a check for $100 on a Tarrytown, N. Y., bank with a local firm. The check came back unhonored with a warning that Kent, with a supply of Tarrytown checks, had no funds in the bank, was "working this territory."

Kent bore high recommendations from Rev. Frank Flegal of Oakland, superintendent of the Methodist churches in this part of the state. He was cordially received by the local minister and introduced to churchmen in Kennett and Castella.

Kent preached two powerful sermons in Kennett and the people of that town were greatly impressed by his ability. He disappeared a week ago.

complied with every provision of the state law," he said.

Burnham declared that thirty-five residents of Pasadena, interested in Newport and Balboa, have transferred their residence to the beach cities to be able to vote in the election.

There are 161 new registrations filed there between August 15 and October 1. Burnham said he had been advised.

In the opinion of Clyde Bishop, Newport Beach city attorney, these 116 voters are not qualified to vote because of the fact, he said, they maintain a summer residence only at Newport Beach. Advocates of the pipeline have declared they will challenge all votes made under such registrations and have hinted that in case it is deemed advisable may attempt to bring about prosecutions by the state for fraud, on the ground that the state election laws have been violated.

WHEN CONSCIENCE SMITES
DETROIT, Nov. 12—Collector of Internal Revenue Fred L. Woodworth has received $3400 in $100 bills from a man with a conscience. The writer said he had made $20,000 last year and had made no return to the government. He figured that he owed $1400 tax originally, and added to that 5 per cent for not paying at all, one per cent per month interest and $1000 fine.

EXPENSIVE JULY FOURTH
DETROIT, Nov. 12—Last Fourth of July flared into a vivid reality for Marshall Richardson when Judge Charles C. Simons of the federal court fined him $1000 for taking a large supply of beer to his summer cottage at the Mt.

Clemens shore line to celebrate the nation's birthday, albeit unlawfully. The judge did some quick figuring and pointed out that defendant had provided fifteen bottles of beer for each guest. It was to have been a rip-roaring Fourth.

SANTA ANA WINS LAUDER; COMEDIAN RECIPROCATES

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Gude day! And aren't you feeling gay and sony the whiles? Mon, it was a braw, bright night wasn't it? W! a' the gude neighbor folk chinnin' w! each ither, an' the wee bit singin' and yon little mon crackin' his jokes—ah mon it was gude an' it's a great world, isn't it?

That was the way most of us felt today after sitting spell-bound through an evening at the high school auditorium while Sir Harry Lauder wove his charm and made us his willing slaves.

"Eh, it's a bonny town ye have!" cried the genial little Scot, beaming upon the great audience crowded the building and leaving not an empty seat. "It's a bonny town and it's a great welcome you are givin' me. I feel that I'm among my friends, I do."

Feels At Home

As indeed he was, friends who were delighted that the Santa Ana Musical association and L. A. Behymer, Los Angeles impresario, had made it possible for them to greet Sir Harry Lauder upon what he characterized as his "first annual farewell tour of the United States."

"Ye make it so pleasant for me that already as 'Im on my homeward way, I am anticipating my fourth farewell trip," he declared in one of the inimitable little monologues with which his songs are interspersed.

Last night's great crowd was a warmly enthusiastic one. There must be some magic evoked by the use of the Lauder name. For everyone had the air of being ready to find everything entertaining. Almost any amusement feature would have been well received so the fact that the five vaudeville acts preceding Sir Harry's appearance were really of the highest quality, made their reception enthusiastic indeed.

Top Spinner Opens

Gintaro, oriental top spinner was an admirable curtain raiser; his feats of balancing kept the audience breathless, while the top spinning feature was truly unique. As is always the case with Chippie jugglers, the stage setting and costuming, while on simple lines, was brilliant and effective. Marian Vallance, with a pleasing, and very strong mezzo-soprano voice entered attired as a fish wife and gave the ringing old Scottish song "Who Will Buy My Calder-Herring?" A quick change and she was again on the stage attired as a bonny peasant girl to sing the always lovely "Comin' Through the Rye."

The very introduction of Gaudsmith Brothers, London Hippodrome clowns, settled the question of the popularity of the act. A black poodle walked sedately from the wings and displayed the placard "Gaudsmith and Me." And truly the dog brothers (for there were two poodles in the act) were as clever as the Gaudsmith brothers.

Violin Numbers Liked

Typically of the London music halls, the act went over big, the pair of clowns (or quartette if we include the dogs) understanding crowd psychology, took the audience into their fun so that everybody had a good time together.

Olga Moreselli, exotic and charming to look upon, gave a group of selections in a remarkable manner for so youthful a player. Her technique and bowing were most pleasing and she seemed to draw what emotion she wished from her magic instrument. Miss Moreselli had but one fault. She posed a bit too much. With the depth of feeling of the Italian race, she threw herself into her playing, and operatic selections from Il Trovatore and a singularly beautiful Hungarian dance followed in rapid succession.

When the young player learns a little more restraint in her motions her appeal to the emotions will be priceless.

Edna Maude, "the spirit of the dance" opened with a unique number and one quite felt the saucy curiosity with which a young canary set about to see the world. Her second dance number was a quaintly costumed affair, in which as a belle of the 1840 period, she posed and smiled through the intricate steps of a toe dance.

Popular for "Fife"
The conclusion of her act brought to the audience the real attraction of the evening, Sir Harry, himself. "W! constitutes Harry Lauder's popularity?" is a question of ten asked. Who knows the answer? It is like life, the universe—all vast immutable things, it is, and that's all.

With his appearance in gay Tartan plaid, with his crooked stick, his beguiling walk, his Scotch burr and his eccentric legs, the evening's fun was in full swing. Maybe we—from Ohio—were not pleased as Punch when he opened his program with "I Know a Lassie Out in O-H-I-O." Maybe we were not—who knows?

But it was in his Harry makeup as a baker boy with his pastry for the gude wife's birthday that he brought down the house, singing "It's Nice When We Make It Up Again."

Occasionally the Scottish burr was lapsed for sheer sweetness of tone as in the lovely "There is Scotchness in Waiting for Me" in which everyone present joined enthusiastically upon his invitation.

Old Songs Liked

A change from Jack Tar costume to the kilts, ragged coat and knitted scarf of an elderly Scotsman, Sir Harry with chin whiskers and nose and wicked leer, looked like he had stepped from a W. L. Jacobs story in the old English magazine, "The Strand," as he sang "When I Was Twenty-One." "Roamin' in the Gloamin'" "Dixie Girls Are Good Enough for Me." "Love Makes the World a Merry-Go-Round." "Wee Deedle and Deedle" and "I Like the Old Home Town" offered a varied selection of his songs. While breaking into one of his monologues was a tenderly beautiful bit when chanting of the "Songs My Mother Used to Sing" he paused to crane an almost wordless little lullaby of "My Bonny Wee Lin" over and over.

Now was it all of the moment, we all brought home things to think about. Couched in amusing phrase and with an accent that was too thick to spread, they caused ripples of mirth at the moment. But they will cause ripples of thought from time to time.

Seriousness Shown

Who will ever join in community singing again without remembering his declaration that to sing was just as easy as to smile—all one had to do in either case was to open one's face, make a hole in it and push?

Who will not remember quaint bits of philosophy which sparkled throughout the evening? Who will not always remember his declaration that he would be prouder to build a friendship than a battle-ship?

Underlying all Harry Lauder's fun and music and quips and quirks is the big thing to which he has consecrated his life—World peace. And while he said very little about it in last night's program, the purpose was strongly present just the same.

LAUDER PLEADS FOR BETTER INTERNATIONAL AID

With a sincerity that impressed the 300 prominent men of Santa Ana and Orange who heard him, Harry Lauder, yesterday at the joint-meeting of luncheon clubs at St. Ann's Inn, appealed for the cooperation of citizens of the United States in activities that will extend the band of friendship across the sea and forever eliminate war. "We must stretch our friendly hand across the sea," said the philosopher and comedian. "Many things have happened since 1914, when a group of men said we will drive where we please, and the world answered by saying you will not. By that action a fire was kindled that required four years to extinguish."

Urges League of Nations
"We must make a place for the league of nations. The world has been altered since 1914—the United States helped in the alterations and we must change our policy, our soul and our imagination as we change a picture on the wall."

Reciting incidents of the day the armistice was signed, when he was at Donnan, Scotland, and intimating his sorrow at the loss of a son, Sir Harry said that he wanted to save his fellow men from going through the same anguish he did. He declared that Bonar Law died from a broken heart, the result of loss of two sons in the war.

Cites Co-operation
"The English-speaking nations must get on one end of the rope of the tug of war, and when they do nations of other tongues will not want to pull against us when they know that we stand for peace."

40 KIWANIS OF SANTA ANA AT CONCLAVE

Staggering along the streets in broad daylight carrying in front of them as many lighted lanterns as the forty Santa Ana Kiwanians attending the state convention of Kiwanis clubs at Fresno today created a sensation in that city, according to word reaching here this afternoon.

Asked by Fresno residents what it was all about the Santa Anans handed out cards bearing the words, "I'm from Santa Ana, the brightest spot in the whole wide world."

Members of the Orange county delegation also wore a special badge, a broad orange colored ribbon, with a walnut, bearing the inscription, "a nut from Orange county," dangling at the end.

"They are calling us nuts," J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, said in a telephone conversation from the convention city.

To Support Wellington

With the election of officers scheduled for tomorrow morning, the Santa Ana contingent today was prepared to put up a valiant battle for the election of Col. M. B. Wellington, of this Kiwanis district, which embraces Long Beach and the clubs in Orange and San Diego counties. Dale King, president of the Fullerton Kiwanis club, has the support of that organization and will be a candidate for the honor, it was understood.

As the club of Long Beach and the clubs of San Diego county have been honored in the past by election to the office of men from their sections it was expected that one of the Orange county men will be successful. Col. Wellington will leave tonight for Fresno. He said today that he was rather luke-warm on the matter and would not be disappointed if King or some other man were chosen for the position.

S. A. Party Delayed

Because of trouble en route, the bus party which left here yesterday morning at 5 o'clock did not arrive at Fresno until 11 o'clock last night. It was scheduled to reach the convention city at 6 p. m.

An incident of the telephone conversation with Baumgartner, it was learned here that the Fresno Republican, one of the leading newspapers between Los Angeles and San Francisco, this morning came out editorially in support of Hiram W. Johnson for president. The paper previously has intimated that it would support Johnson, but had made no definite announcement that it favored elevation to the presidency of the senior United States senator from California.

Man In Jail On Bail In Bad Check Cases

Ralph W. Moon of Santa Ana today was held in the county jail here in default of $1,000 bail, pending preliminary examination before Justice J. B. Cox, December 12, on two charges of check kiting.

Arraigned late yesterday, Moon pleaded not guilty to both charges. Bail was fixed at $500 on each. One charge will be heard at 2 p. m. December 12, the other being scheduled an hour later.

Moon was accused of passing a worthless check for $26 to Mark Hausman, August 4, and a check for $23 to Charles C. Hinton, August 27.

Sentence Check Case Man to Penitentiary

His appeal for probation denied, E. L. Avery, recently arrested at Huntington Beach on a charge of writing fictitious checks, today was sentenced here by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to a term of from one to fourteen years at Folsom.

Avery, who was said to have married a 14-year-old girl recently, confessed in court today that he had given up hope for probation when he learned that his wife had "turned against him."

His previous record was found to contain a felony conviction and because of that fact he was sentenced to Folsom instead of San Quentin, where first offenders are sentenced.

Absolve Driver Of Beach Death Auto

No blame was attached to W. L. Van Horn, driver of an automobile which struck T. C. Woods, 77, and caused his death at Huntington Beach, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury, which decided that the accident was unavoidable, it was learned here today.

Coroner Charles D. Brown conducted the inquest at 3 p. m. yesterday in the Harrell undertaking parlors at Huntington Beach. Woods was struck down while crossing a street intersection in that city late Wednesday.

SANTA ANA CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1923

PAGES NINE TO SIXTEEN

SCORES BUYERS OF OIL UNITS
WHO 'KICK'
ON TAXES*County Not to Blame When
Investment Fails, Says
Auditor, In Defense*FAIRNESS IS AIMED AT*"Cost Is More to Collect Bill Than We Get," Is Revelation Made Here

Complaints regarding taxes, coming from purchasers of oil units that failed to "pan out," are in bad taste and wholly illogical, it was declared today by County Auditor W. C. Jerome, who, in an interview, defended the county's plan of fixing assessed valuations upon which taxes are based.

To begin, Jerome made it clear that were it not unjust that one property owner be relieved of taxes, while another is taxed, the county would profit by wiping the oil units entirely from its assessment and tax rolls. What small sum is secured from taxes collected from the oil units does not pay the expense of collecting it, he declared.

Letter Is Cited.
Jerome's statements were called forth by a written complaint from a taxpayer, that was shown to the auditor. The complaint related to tax bills on units of a certain tract that, it appeared from the complaint, had failed to produce the expected oil.

The taxpayer declared that the taxes on five units amounted to $10 and expressed the opinion that such a tax was adding "insult to injury" when the unit buyers had failed to realize on their investment. The complaint asked if the county was in league with the promoters.

"That's certainly an illogical kick," remarked the auditor.

Assessed Low.
"By his own admission, the purchasers paid $200 for each unit. That is their own valuation, then, isn't it? All right. Here is the tax bill on one of those very units; I happen to have it here just now."

The tax bill showed that the unit was assessed at $50 and that the tax on the unit was $1.25, instead of $2 as claimed by the taxpayer. "That shows that the lot was assessed at only 25 per cent of the purchaser's own valuation," said Jerome. "The usual custom is to figure 35 per cent."

"Anyway, so far as the county is concerned, it would gladly wipe these oil units off its records if it wasn't unfair to tax one property owner and let another go free. The county spends as much or more in collecting the taxes off these units than it collects."

Many Are Delinquent.
"Take this tax bill of $1.25, for instance. More book work is required on this one unit than on the bill for a large tract. The time of employees devoted to entering various records regarding the unit and its tax bill costs nearly as much as the amount of the bill."

"And when you take into action the correspondence we have had with the owner regarding this tax bill, which was allowed to go delinquent, not to mention the 8 cents or ten cents postage item, you can see that it would pay the county to 'forget them' entirely if it could be done."

"And the same procedure is required with most of these units. Oil units alone increased the county's delinquent tax roll 300 per cent last year."

"No, indeed," Jerome concluded. "These unit holders look bad when they kick about such a measly tax as this. It wasn't the county's fault that their investments failed them and the county certainly isn't making any profit from them."

16 OF CITY'S COMELY GIRLS
COMPOSE CHORUS PREPARING FOR ELKS MUSICAL COMEDY

Sixteen of Santa Ana's most beautiful and talented girls compose the chorus for "The King of Kokomo," the big musical comedy which will be presented at the Yost theater here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, November 21, 22 and 23, under the auspices of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

The entire net proceeds from the production will be used by the local Elks club to give the city's needy a happy Christmas. The advance ticket sale begins at the Parson's Drug store, corner Fourth and Bush streets, next Monday.

The girls in the chorus are: Misses Esther Hall, Charmes, Loretta Antoine, Ruth Thomas, Mae Pierce, Betty Zerkensky, Gertrude Karp, Semone Thomas, Dorothy Traveller, Jeanne Nelson, Gladys Prevost, Inez Pierce, Billie Walter, Addie Waffie, Meri Alexander, Lucy Williams and Mildred White.

Robert Bradford, billed as the "boy with the million dollar voice," has been added to the cast for the production. It was learned today, Bradford, a Santa Ana high school pupil, has received high praise for his musical ability.

Mrs. Charles Kendall Jr., Mrs. Russell Johnson and Miss Elaine Wharton are three other well-known Santa Ana's who will be featured.

FUTURE SCHOOL EQUIPMENT IS POINTED OUT

Sixteen new school rooms added to four of the grammar schools of the city have been placed in use, relieving inconvenience occasioned when half-day sessions were necessary to accommodate the pupils, according to announcement made today at the office of J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools.

It was pointed out that the additions cost approximately $100,000, with the addition of the new schools, the tremendous population growth of the city.

Two of the additions were to school houses that have been completed within the past year, the Lowell and Franklin schools.

At McKinley school there was erected a five-room unit of what is contemplated as a new school building for that site.

Accommodations at Spurgeon school were enlarged by the construction of an addition of four rooms.

Pointing out that one room each at the McKinley and Spurgeon schools is not now in use, F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, said that if school attendance continues its present ratio of increase the two rooms will be needed by the opening of the next semester.

"The rooms now in use are crowded and by the opening of the next term we again will be confronted with a lack of school facilities, despite the fact that we have added the sixteen rooms and now are building a new junior high school at the corner of South Main street and Fairview."

DRIVE ON 'BAD' CHECKS HELD SUCCESSFUL

The co-operation of all Santa Ana banks with the Merchants and Manufacturers' association has had a marked effect in the success of that organization's campaign to eliminate fictitious checks and the writers of such checks from this community. P. S. Lucas, secretary of the association, said today.

Lucas said that during the first week of the campaign a number of assessed habitual writers of insufficient fund checks were reported, in addition to the writers of checks on banks in which the writer had no account. This number has already decreased and many persons who have in the past been careless in keeping accurate balances in their check books have given more care when writing checks, he added.

"The average writer of a check that is returned marked 'insufficient funds' did not write the check with the intention of defrauding the party accepting it," Lucas said. "The check was written when there was not enough funds in the bank to cover it because the writer was careless and did not know the exact balance he had on deposit at the bank."

"More care is being used now that it is known that daily reports of such checks is being made to the association. Another item of carelessness that is being reduced through this campaign is the writing of checks on blanks from the wrong bank, through mistake."

Under the new system in force in this campaign, merchants are making frequent deposits of all checks at the bank and each day the banks report to the secretary of the association checks that have been returned for any reason.

MAIL CARRIERS
DUE TO PROBE
PROBLEMS*Expect County Men to Air
Salary Boost Proposal at Session Wednesday

The problems of the mail carrier are to be discussed at a meeting to be held by carriers from the Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton and Anaheim offices at the Santa Ana city hall Wednesday evening of next week.

In making this announcement, Earl Glenn of the Santa Ana carrier staff, an officer of the Orange County Letter Carriers' association, stated that the postmasters and assistant postmasters of the four offices have been invited to attend the meeting.

Glenn said that arrangements had been made for addresses by two Los Angeles men, Ben E. Davis, who is the California representative on the executive board of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and L. M. Story.

Salary Problem Up.

According to Glenn, one of the chief problems of letter carriers and post office clerks is to make both ends meet with the salaries now received.

Glenn said that the national association already has drafted a bill for presentation to congress at its next session, with the proposed legislation endorsed by the American Legion and other national organizations. Glenn said that the meeting here next Wednesday evening would be devoted largely to a discussion of the salary problem.

Longer Vacations Wanted.
Three salary grades is provided in the drafted documents, $2000, $2200 and $2400 per annum. The first is effective during the first year of service, the second following the first year, and the third for men who have been in the employ of the department for longer periods. It is proposed to make the salary schedule applicable to clerks also.

Glenn said it also is proposed to change the present regulations on vacations, increasing the period from fifteen to thirty days, and this feature will be discussed here.

A Saturday half holiday also is proposed, but it is not expected the county carriers will discuss this subject.

CITRUS DEMAND

Demand for citrus products is the greatest in the history of the country and the industry's outlook is "most encouraging," according to E. G. Dezell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, who in Los Angeles, made public his annual report today.

Value of the California crop, for the past year which is more than one-half of the total amount produced in the United States, is $55,223,450 to members of the exchange or $71,007,705 to all of the producers, according to Dezell.

"The total product handled in the United States during the past year," said Dezell, "including exports from Porto Rico, Cuba, Japan and Italy, was 113,000 carloads. Of this amount California shipped 59,737 cars."

Dezell pointed out that the delivery value of the product was more than $105,000,000. Forty-million boxes annually are used by the American people, the report indicated.

TO AIR LIBRARY
PLANS BEFORE
PLANNERS*Conflicting Views Among
Board Members Shown
On Eve of Meet

"I am going before the city planning commission tonight and state facts regarding the need for more room at the library, and then await instructions from that body."

Dr. C. D. Ball, member of the library board, today in this way outlined his program for tonight. Dr. Ball said that there was no doubt among board members that additional space was needed for library needs.

According to Dr. Ball, action has been delayed while the question of whether it would be wise to rebuild the present library as a separate institution or to seek another location and build a combined library and civic center, had been debated pro and con.

"Personally I can not see the advantage of combining the library with a civic center," Dr. Ball declared. "It would seem that the library is more closely related to the school and educational system of the community than it is to the civic system."

Favor Present Site

"The present library site, I think, is suitable and convenient to the patrons. More room is needed, and at once. The securing of more accommodations is to me the first item of importance. I favor the use of the present site, but I am going before the planning commission tonight and tell them the situation regarding the need for adequate quarters. I shall await instruction as to the site and method of securing same. I will attend tonight seeking instruction rather than attempting to instruct."

It is doubtful that J. S. Smart, the other member of the library board scheduled to appear before the commissioners tonight, will be present. He is out of town and is not expected to return before the end of the week, it was learned.

Conflicting Views Held

Smart, however, prepared a letter clearly stating his views, shown to conflict with those held by Dr. Ball, which he mailed to the secretary of the library board, Mrs. W. B. Tedford. A copy of the letter has been referred to Mrs. Clara Cushman, secretary of the planning body, who said she intended reading it before the commission tonight.

Mrs. Cushman outlined the letter as follows:

"Smart stated that in his opinion all members of the library board desired to co-operate with the city planning commission in that body's effort to guide the building activities of the city. He said that he is confident that the board members would be willing to postpone the building of a new library or the reconstruction of the present building until the planning commission can arrange a civic center including all public buildings if adequate library facilities could be provided until such plans are made."

Offers Two Alternatives
"Two suggestions tending to provide adequate accommodations until the proposed civic center is planned," he said. He said that at present there are between 5,000 and 10,000 volumes on the library shelves that might be termed obsolete, in that they are rarely if ever called for. He suggested that these volumes be removed from the current shelves, be catalogued and stored away in some place where they could be easily secured in the event that someone asked for a book from this list."

"He also suggested that the rooms across from the library, on Sycamore street, recently vacated by the Southern Counties Gas company, be rented and one department of the library be removed to that location."

"Smart, according to his letter, feels that either of these plans would provide adequate space until a civic center, including the library, could be planned and erected."

Mrs. Cushman declined to make a statement regarding the matter.

"Buenos dias, yes madam it is against the law to park your car in front of a fire hydrant."

"What time does the next car leave for Orange? Quien sabe?"

"Y habia espanol—you can't park your car there, so vamonos along pronto."

The foregoing are not typographical errors, neither are they just foolishness. They are samples of what may be heard every afternoon on the corner of Fourth and Main streets if all members of the police department here follow the example of Patrolman Floyd Yoder.

Officer Yoder is studying Spanish and it is not unusual to see him patrolling his beat muttering Spanish phrases under his breath and it is not at all strange that he should occasionally mix a little Spanish with the answers to the million and one questions that a police officer is called upon to answer during the day.

Yoder, under the tutelage of Inspector Sid Smithwick, who, by the way, slings a mean mouthful of Spanish when he starts, is learning to converse in Spanish. Yesterday afternoon, before the second shift went to work Yoder was seated in a chair at headquarters listening while Smithwick read short stories to him from a Spanish reader.

Someone asked Desk Sergeant Frank Letz if Yoder was receiving secret instructions regarding police work. Letz answered:

"Now! Sid is just reading a few bedtime stories to Yoder in Spanish before he goes to work. Yoder is learning to speak Spanish so he can answer more questions when he is on duty."

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Emile Coue, noted exponent of healing by suggestion, whose first visit to this country was an event of national importance, will return January 12, according to an announcement by Captain J. SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14.—California vineyards, it is estimated by the co-operating crop reporting service of the state department of agriculture, will produce 237,000 tons of raisins this season, which includes an estimate of 13,000 tons produced on 55,000 acres planted early in 1921. The area in bearing of raisin classes of grapes is estimated to be about 244,000 acres.

Milani Ruins Raid,
But Gets Into Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Tripping of federal prohibition agents, thus delaying their entrance to 440 Broadway, made their raid a failure, but cost G. Milani his freedom. Milani, who was cook at Il Trovatore restaurant, closed by abatement, stood in the doorway at 440 Broadway and stuck out his foot as the raiders entered, causing one to trip and fall. By the time the raiders had unscrambled themselves in the narrow entrance, all the liquor in the place had disappeared and no one could be arrested for bootlegging. Milani was taken into custody for interfering with a federal officer.

MUST PREPARE ORCHARDS FOR HOT WIND, IS WORD TOLD
GROWERS*Trees Well Irrigated and of Good Root Systems
Are Found Immune*PAST DAMAGE HEAVY*Further Experiments Due To Be Watched With Great Interest

Announcement that a way has been found, was believed, to combat the menace of electrical winds to citrus orchards was calculated to bring rejoicing today to fruit growers in certain districts of the county, where the winds have wrought thousands of dollars worth of damage in the past.

The secret, as revealed by Willard Smith, Villa Park orchardist, and recognized horticultural authority, involves nothing more than the care of the groves, themselves. Properly prepared to meet the situation, the groves will take care of themselves during the electrical winds, it has been discovered.

Moisture and root system, Smith made known, are the two weapons of protection that must be supplied to citrus trees to enable them to withstand the ravages of the winds that, on at least two noteworthy occasions within recent years, have spread ruin among the choicest citrus districts of the county.

Immune to frost and other misfortunes of less-favored sections, these districts have been sorely stricken by one storm, the electrical wind that whipped and seared the trees and fruit as though a forest fire had raged among the branches, ranchers pointed out.

One such wind was regarded as a freak of nature that merited little attention, but a recent recurrence set the growers to thinking; likewise to studying, experimenting and observing in the hope of solving the serious problem before them.

Their application to the problem brought what is believed to be a solution. As Smith describes it: "We found that the trees with good root systems that had been well irrigated just before the wind came through without injury. The damage was done in those groves where the soil was dry and among trees with poorly developed root systems."

Further experiments and study of the situation, which Smith indicated would be made, will be watched with great interest among the growers, particularly in the affected districts, orchardists indicated.

Admission of Guilt In Check Case Nets Term

H. C. Armstrong, alleged to have floated at least fifteen worthless checks in the county, including a check for $25 at Ward's bakery, Orange, today was awaiting transfer from the county jail to San Quentin, he having been sentenced by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to a term of from one to fourteen years.

After waiving his preliminary hearing and pleading guilty in Judge Williams' court, Armstrong asked for probation. This was denied late yesterday, sentence being passed at that time.

College Graduate
Babe On Same Plane

DENVER, Nov. 14.—A new-born babe has as much intelligence as a college graduate. So says Mary C. C. Bradford, state superintendent of public instruction. This is the basis of a new idea in education which has successfully worked in one Colorado county and will be rapidly introduced in others, Mrs. Bradford said.

No pupil is held more than one year in a grade under this "three-track" method. Each child is rated according to achievement, ability and intelligence, rather than the showing made on his report card.

ARMISTICE PARADE SCENES

LIONS' FLOAT A BEAR—The Orange Lions' float in Monday's parade was not only representative of American history, but carried a message to many Californians. It was regarded as one of the best floats of all those entered in the huge parade.

VICTORY FOR THE ALLIES!—That was the cry in 1918, and it was brought home forcefully Monday by the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce float, "Arch of Victory." This float was conceded one of the most attractive in Orange county's celebration of Armistice day.

WEDDING GUEST IS UNDAUNTED BY HURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Undaunted by numerous fractures suffered when his car was struck by another, C. O. Jackson of Placerville insisted on continuing his journey to Oakland to attend the wedding of his brother. He arrived after the nuptials, so went to the Oakland Emergency hospital instead. Jackson suffered a fractured left elbow, a fractured right wrist, two fractured ribs, a dislocated shoulder and minor injuries.

Harold C. Higgins, Fairmont hotel of San Francisco, was the driver of the car that crashed into Jackson's machine while the latter was standing at a Batavia filling station. Jackson was unscrewing the cap from the gasoline tank at the rear of his car at the time and so sustained the full force of the crash. Dennis Pettigrew, aged 27, also of Placerville, was cut and bruised.

According to Higgins, his car became unmanageable when it slid in the sand at the approach to the filling station.

At the Oakland hospital Jackson said he hoped to be sufficiently recovered to extend congratulations on the marriage he did not witness, to his brother, Bert Jackson, 9526 Sunnyside street, Oakland.

REFUSES TO NAME SLAYER AT DEATH

OLEAN, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Mystery surrounds the slaying of Ernest Pezzini, 34, a local barber, who was shot down by a stranger as he was leaving his shop in the business section. The assailant emptied five chambers of a .32-caliber revolver into his body. Police and county authorities today are seeking to learn the identity of the slayer. The shooting occurred only a short distance from the Reed street police station.

Pezzini died a few hours after he was taken to the general hospital. He died refusing to reveal the name of his assailant or the motive behind the attack.

The victim was leaving the shop for home when an unidentified man was seen to approach him. The stranger opened fire as soon as he was near Pezzini and then made off in the darkness. Pezzini staggered and would have fallen had it not been for the arrival of pedestrians, who caught a fleeting glimpse of the fugitive.

The police could obtain only a meager description of the slayer.

Dance With Redhead? He'd Rather Be Shot

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Rather than dance with a "titan-thatched wall flower," Philip La Rose took a chance on being shot, he told the police.

La Rose was dancing with a pretty brunette at a dance hall, when Mrs. Josie Caccavallo, proprietress, tapped him on the shoulder and, with a pistol in her hand, said:

"Dance with that redhead, or I'll kill you."

He took one look at the girl and jumped through a window.

The police disarmed Mrs. Caccavallo and charged her with assault with a deadly weapon.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Leaving her room during the absence of her nurse, Mrs. Louise Patten, 65, a member of one of the most prominent families of Canastota, ended her life by drowning in a bath tub at the Syracuse general hospital.

Mrs. Patten had been a patient at the hospital about two months suffering from a nervous ailment. She insisted on being left alone. A nurse entering her room to ask if the woman wanted supper, found her sleeping. She left without awakening her.

About an hour later her lifeless body was found in the bath tub half filled with water.

Coroner S. Ellis Crane was notified and after an investigation gave a verdict of suicide.

Mrs. Patten is survived by one brother, Charles Cady of Canastota.

Woman Accused of Influencing Parent

OAKLAND, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Laura F. Jennings took advantage of the susceptibility and weakness of her aged mother, Mrs. Mary Cleaves, and influenced her to deed to her property on Thirty-sixth street near Telegraph avenue, it is charged in a suit brought by a brother and two sisters of Mrs. Jennings in the superior court here. The plaintiffs are Fred L. Greaves, Mrs. Bertha E. Parks and Eda Locke, all children of Mrs. Cleaves, who died September 21 last, leaving an estate consisting of considerable property in Alameda county.

FIRST AMERICAN WAR BABY
WINS FAVORABLE COMMENT

Mary Katherine Kelsey, one first American war baby of the army of occupation, had to change her clothes quickly because The Register photographer was in a hurry when he called at her house, 1319 North French street. Someone had objected to her wearing the blonde braids, but she said she didn't care, they didn't belong to her! With or without, she wins our hearts just the same.

A tiny flaxen wig on the head of the first American war baby born on the Rhine during the American occupation has caused a miniature flurry among several local mothers.

When Mary Catherine Kelsey, the child about whom the controversy has settled, appeared in the Armistice day historical pageant at Orange she wore a clever costume imported especially from Coblentz for her use.

From under her tiny cap protruded two blonde braids, which lent a decided German accent to her appearance.

On her feet were wooden shoes, which the Coblentz costume designer cleared were always part of the official habit.

There was no mistake, the girl was dressed by a German frau! But if one had looked at the back he might have discovered the short, but effective edge of a tiny bob. Disappointingly American!

So several of the mothers telephoned Mrs. M. F. Kelsey, 1319 North French street, and "called her down" for showing her child to wear the braids.

"Why, she was the first American war baby born on the Rhine and I wanted her to look the part," said the mother, semi-indignantly. "She has appeared in Armistice day parades three times before and at the Marion, Ohio, centennial and no one objected to the braids! The idea, neither myself nor my husband are German and my little girl is as sturdy an American as could be."

The little girl was born in Coblentz December 11, 1919, and her picture appeared in many of the American newspapers. She received numerous gifts from the population and a noted cleric baptized her in the cathedral at Coblentz.

Every morning she eats (whatever it is 4-year-old girls eat) from a silver plate with her name engraved on it. It was one of her gifts.

"Which do you like best, the sandals or the wooden shoes?" she was asked.

"Oh I like the sandals, but the wooden shoes click better," she replied, as she stuck out her tongue gleefully, at the strange reporter and insistent photographer.

Big Bear, Hit By Train, Ambles Away

OLEAN, N. Y., Nov. 14.—A Pennsylvania railroad train coming into this city ran down a big black bear in Pennsylvania, just across the state line, according to passengers. The engineer told the passengers that when he saw the animal on the track he thought it was a small automobile. He was about to stop the engine after striking him, but the bear recovered and went into the woods. Passengers said that the bear kept glancing back at the train as if angry at the treatment received.

Aged Have Whooping
Cough, Too, M. D. Says

MARTINS PERRY, O., Nov. 14.—Persons who believe that whooping cough is only a childhood disease are wrong, according to a local physician. He reported that one of his patients—a woman, aged 86 years—is ill with whooping cough, having contracted it during a recent epidemic among children. This is said to be the third time the aged woman has been afflicted with whooping cough.

Cash Register Man
Wins Vacation Trip

W. D. Rudd, representative of the National Cash Register company for Orange and Riverside counties, today was receiving congratulations of his friends because he received a vacation trip to Bermuda the middle of next January. Of the 1500 salesmen of the American selling force, Rudd stood forty-second in a company contest.

IT'S 'SANTANA,'
CLUB WOMEN REITERATE

"Call me what you will, I will just blow on regardless of names" declared a lusty wind which swept down the canyon in a mad journey from the desert to the sea, and paused to read a paragraph printed in the columns of the thrice-a-week newspaper published at the neighboring city of Yorba Linda.

The ribald laughter of the wind floated over the rooftops as it made the declaration, after learning that the Yorba Linda Women's club had gone on record to give the real name of "santana" to the boisterous breeze, rather than one so frequently bestowed, "Santa Ana."

"The common pronunciation is displeasing to many persons," declared the club women, who decided that, in view of that fact, it was only fitting that they should follow in the footsteps of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs which recently took action on the matter.

But whether greeted as "Santa Ana" or as "santana," the musical old Spanish name, the wind blows merrily on, chanting a paraphrase of Shakespeare:

"A wind by any other name would blow as strong."

S. A. Chamber Head at Hollywood Parley On Forest Fires Relief

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here, was in Hollywood today attending a conference of Southern California chamber of commerce secretaries for the discussion of plans for the prevention of forest fires. This meeting was called by the Hollywood Hills association.

Various methods of educating vacationists against starting fires will be considered, as well as the possibility of securing more stringent laws against those who wilfully ignite such fires.

Before leaving here, Metzgar said: "I think that this meeting is one of vast importance to every community in the Southland. The prevention of forest fires is important to the south not only as a means of saving the forests, but also of saving the water supply of the various communities."

Burglars Attempt To Enter Grocery Store

An attempt was made last night to rob the Lauderbach, Gorton and company grocery at 1601 West Fourth street, according to employees of the store. Some one attempted to gain entrance through a rear window and falling in this attempt to remove a pane of glass from a front window, employees said. The prowlers were evidently frightened away before this could be accomplished.

New Orleans Seeks
Olives at Oroville

OROVILLE, Nov. 14.—New Orleans is turning to Oroville for its green olive supply. J. C. Nesbitt, secretary of the chamber of commerce, has received a telegram from New Orleans asking if a carload of green olives could be purchased here. Growers were canvassed, but all crops had been contracted for.

SCION OF RICH
FAMILY TAKEN AS 'KITER'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Walter Richardson, 17-year-old scion of one of Georgia's wealthiest families, thinks the San Francisco authorities have a poor sense of humor.

That's because they've slapped him into jail on two charges of forgery, merely because he wrote out $20,290 worth of checks as a "joke" on the Candler family, Coca Cola magnates, personal friends of his.

Young Richardson was arrested at the Hotel St. Francis, where he had been posing for two days as John Candler, grandson of Asa G. Candler, the Coca Cola king, himself, of Atlanta Ga.

Youth Blames Drink.
At police headquarters he admitted everything he had done, including the signing of four big checks with his assumed name.

"I did it all because I was boozed up, and at the time I thought it'd be a good joke on my friends, the Cандlers," he said.

The boy told police questioners that he is really the son of wealthy S. L. Richardson of 859 Piedmont avenue, Atlanta; first cousin of Lumford Richardson, the Vicks Vapo-Rub magnate of Greensboro, N. C., and grandson of R. M. Richardson, president of the First National Bank of Seneca, S. C.

According to his story, he got a monthly allowance of $500 from his father.

Draws $1500 for Trip.
Drawing $1500 from his father in advance recently, he started a pleasure trip across the continent.

He says, he got drunk and went to the St. Francis in a jovial frame of mind and registered as John Candler, thinking it would be a jolly spoof on the Cандlers.

Indeed, the joke seemed ever so much better, he told the police, when a flock of automobile salesmen descended upon him, under the illusion that he was a Candler, and began to sell him automobiles as fast as he could write checks.

Buys Three Autos.
Producing a checkbook on the City Bank and the Southern Bank of Atlanta, he wrote the following checks:

One for $12,590 for a high-priced automobile; one for $6900 in payment for another expensive car, and one for $500 to a third automobile distributor.

Then he began to sober up and realized he was getting in trouble. So, still not altogether sober, he says, he went to the telegraph desk and sent this telegram to Atlanta:

"Candler Company, Candler building, Atlanta: Hold all the stock until the first JOHN CANDLER. On top of that, he wrote a check for $300 to the St. Francis and deposited it with the hotel.

BANK EXAMINER
LOSES IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Denying the plea of Lee Shapirer, federal bank examiner, for a divorce, Superior Judge Graham reversed the proceedings and granted the decree to Mrs. Shapirer and ordered her husband to pay her $75 a month alimony for a year, and $100 counsel fees to Harry Stafford who represented her.

Shapirer filed suit charging his wife with cruelty, leaving him when he was ill two days after an operation, to which Mrs. Shapirer replied that the "serious operation" had been but a nasal incision, and that she took him away from the hospital. She left two days later, she stated on the witness stand, because her mother was in a serious condition in Portland.

Married Nine Years
Mrs. Shapirer, who was married to the bank examiner nine years ago in Portland when she was 17 years of age, denied that she had complained of the small remuneration Shapirer received.

However, she added, Shapirer frequently complained of the treatment he received in the federal bank examiner's office and on these occasions she admitted urging him to choose other employment.

The hearing before Judge Graham was taken up by both Shapirer and his wife on the witness stand. Mrs. Shapirer did not file a cross complaint to Shapirer's suit, and Judge Graham urged that a formal complaint be placed on record today, when granting her the divorce.

Man's Sister Witness
Miss Edith Shapirer, of 1271 California street, Shapirer's sister, went on the witness stand to corroborate her brother's testimony. She admitted under cross examination that she had never met her sister-in-law.

Refuting Shapirer's allegations of cruelty and indifference, Mrs. Shapirer testified that when he had influenza in Portland, she nursed him for fourteen days and nights, even though, physicians had ordered her to bed. Shapirer admitted this on the stand.

Shapirer lives at 520 Post street and his wife at the Cartwright Hotel.

SHORT SPORTS

Wilce went so far as to literally paint the university red on the theory that red was an inspiring color. Before the Colgate game he hung signs around the locker room: "Intercollegiate," and before the big game with Michigan he called the attention of his squad with the simple placard: "Michigan."

Ohio tied Colgate and lost to Michigan, but anyone will admit that it would have taken more than psychology to beat that Michigan gang.

South American trainers who prepared Luis Firpo for his fight with Jack Dempsey went to extremes in boosting the confidence and mental edge of the Argentine giant.

Firpo was told from morning till night that he was the next champion. Every night, after dinner, the training staff would gather around Firpo and present in pantomime his victory over Dempsey.

When Firpo would return to his corner after a sparring bout with one of his champ-mates, his handlers would say: "Well done, my king; that is the reason you are the champion."

Associates of Jack Dempsey did the same thing around the champion, although they paid tribute to him in less emphatic fashion.

Dempsey is always referred to by his manager and his camp-mates as "the champ." His title is always used in conversation with him, and some of his staunch supporters advise visitors to his camp that it would be pleasing to address him as "champ."

With Firpo, perhaps it was overdone and, it might be pointed out that, it did him no good, but it could be argued just as well that it did him no harm.

RAIL EXTENSION PLANNED
DENVER, Nov. 15.—Announcement was made at Colorado Springs of a proposed three-and-a-half-mile extension of the interurban railroad running from Grand Junction to Fruita into rich and hitherto undeveloped farm lands of the High Line section, with a view to doubling the best sugar acreage in that district.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal Osburn

Lesson for Nov. 18, Matt. 9:35-38; Luke 8:1-3; John 3:16-17. "Our Lord Jesus a Missionary."

"Jesus went about all the cities and villages teaching . . . preaching . . . and healing." vs. 35. Towards the people of his day, there was for Jesus a choice between two—only one was good. One of these was that of selfishness; the other unselfishness. The same is now true of each one of us. Selfishness may express itself in a hundred ways or more.

The selfish man may array himself against others, be indifferent, or exploit them for his own benefit. The unselfish man serves others, voluntarily and in a way that he believes will be for their highest good. He is prompted to do this by the best of motives. Not even duty impels him, but love.

"If the price of his assumed allegiance to the cause of Jesus Christ is either gold or glory, no matter how much or how little of either he may gain, he is not thereby, he is deservedly regarded as a disgrace to the Missionary of Gilead, whose disciple he declares himself to be."

Missionary's Duty
To be as much like his Master as it is possible, is the first duty of every missionary. And we all are missionaries of Jesus Christ—if we are at all. It is not necessary for one to be so designated by some church or missionary board, in order to be entitled to be called a missionary. Such recognition as may be given by those in ecclesiastical authority does not constitute one a missionary. Missionaries, with qualifications like those of the Master—not the least of which was his absolute unselfishness—are not so easily made.

No "ordination" by preacher, bishop, or official church board can eliminate selfishness. There is many a missionary who would be astonished if told that he was one. However it would be appropriate to a large number, if the feminine pronoun were used, for there are many more women than men today who are "Good Samaritans."

"Certain women . . . who ministered unto them of their substance."—vs. 2, 3. There is no better proof of unselfishness than this statement and, to that extent, fitness to be a missionary. And these women were missionaries—

Control of Oil

Warning oil men that state regulation of their business is imminent because of wasteful production methods, E. W. Marland at the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress held in Tulsa said that leaders in the industry must immediately take steps to intelligently conserve the nation's oil resources.

"I fear we must face the possibility of state control of production," he said. "The land owners of Oklahoma and other producing states probably will not long continue to permit such foolish waste of their property by their lessees as has been seen this year."

Declaring that over-production in every new field is a natural result of present system of unregulated competition between operators, Mr. Marland said he believed one approach to solution was "intelligent and uniform proration of purchases from flowing wells," and to that end he suggested "legislation permitting purchasers and cartmen to enter into agreements regarding proration during periods of over-production."

Gas Industry

One thousand and twenty-two manufactured gas companies, the development of a public service industry that started little more than a century ago with the first gas plant in Baltimore in 1816, now serve the people of the United States.

This is thirty-four times the number of companies in existence in 1850, when there were but thirty manufactured gas companies in the United States, according to that year. The population of the country has increased four and one-half times since then.

In 1850 the thirty gas companies had a combined capital of $6,574,000. The gas industry of today is capitalized at nearly $1,500,000,000. The gas plants of 70 years ago had an annual revenue of $1,922,000. In 1920, according to the Census of Manufactures, gas company revenues amounted to $329,278,908.

It is in vain to gather virtues without humility; for the Spirit of God delighteth to dwell in the hearts of the humble.—Erasmus.

FIGHT TO KEEP GIRL GOOD LOST IN EAST

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Barnes Redick of Cleveland, 22 years old, who has been in charge of the State Bureau of Juvenile Research in an effort to separate her "good" character from her "bad," was committed to the state hospital for the insane here by the Franklin county juvenile court.

For two years state physicians have made vain efforts to separate her good disposition from the bad one, but the bad gradually overcame the good and her condition of late has become such that she disturbed the hospital routine.

Physicians call her "Bernice" when she is good and "Polly" when bad. The physicians reported to the court that as "Bernice" she was a "perfect lady," but when "Polly" she was like an unruly child of 4 years.

When first put under observation hypnosis and other methods were tried to kill "Polly," as she named herself in her bad spells. The girl formerly was a high school pupil in Lisbon, Ohio. In a single day she was known to have changed back and forth eleven times from "Polly" to her normal self.

When "Polly" she could neither read, write nor distinguish colors; gibbered in "baby talk," and delighted in toys. When "Bernice" the physicians found her a bright, alert, cultured young woman who wrote beautiful letters, read good books and was ambitious to become a musician.

There was no connecting link between the two personalities. "Bernice" could not remember "Polly," nor "Polly" "Bernice."

Driver Who Deserted Victim Is Overtaken

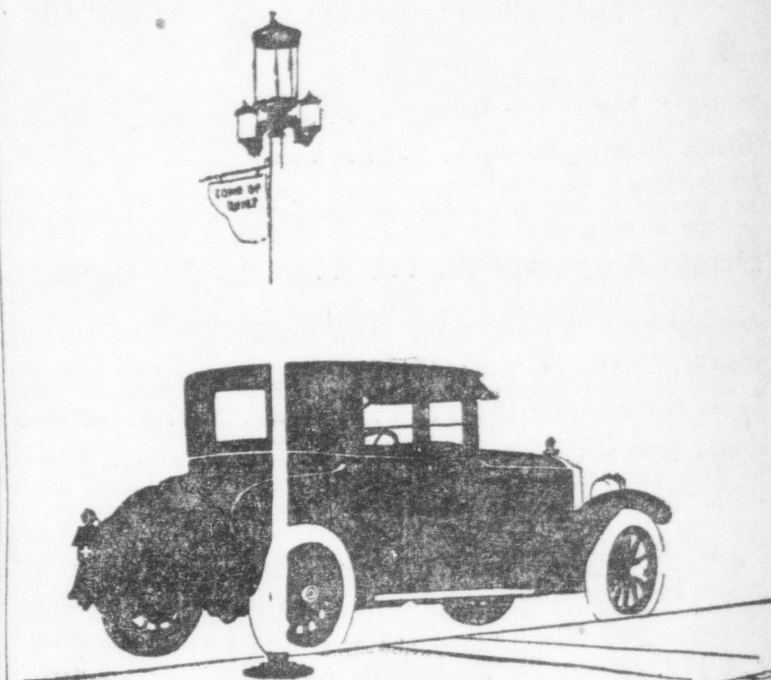

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—After a chase of fifteen blocks, Daniel J. Gallick, 504 Steiner street, was arrested on a charge of deserting the victim of his automobile. He is alleged to have struck and injured Louis Bancali, restaurant worker of 17 Romolo place, on the Great Highway at the entrance of the main drive of Golden Gate park, and to have sped on without rendering assistance. Bancali was treated at Emergency Park hospital for a dislocation of the shoulder and bruises and abrasions. Other motorists saw the accident and captured Gallick after an exciting chase.

Fresno Instructor In French Missing

FRESNO, Nov. 14.—Jules Maurice Pimenta, French instructor at the Fresno high school since the beginning of the present year, is missing. He left the city after a letter had been written to Principal Delbert Brunton in which he asked to be excused from his duties. His family is missing from the home they occupied here, and also Pimenta's belongings. The letter said that Pimenta expected to confer with the French consul at Los Angeles, and was mailed from the railroad station at Sacramento. Pimenta was reported absent without leave at the city superintendent's office.

Spruce Budworm Foe Of Forests, Revealed

The spruce budworm is causing serious defoliation of spruce and fir in northern and central Idaho, in the Yosemite National Park, and in the Tower Falls and Camp Roosevelt sections of Wyoming. According to report made to the United States Department of Agriculture, this destructive insect, which has devastated the spruce and balsam fir forests of Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick, and Maine, is apparently distributed throughout the Western states.

In the final accounting, when all fixed charges and operating costs are considered, it costs no more to own and operate a Single-Six than a car selling around $1,200.

And how much more the Single-Six gives in return only the Single-Six owner knows.

Wisconsin Fails To Drink Up Her Quota Of Booze for 1923

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 12.—Wisconsin has plenty of whiskey for medicinal uses, if the records of Clark M. Perry, federal prohibition officer for Wisconsin, are any criterion.

Last year only two-thirds of the supply allowed doctors of the state was prescribed. The other third remained on drug store shelves unclaimed.

For the twelve months Wisconsin refused 31,056 gallons of whiskey they might have legally consumed. Of course, it takes a prescription from one of the 1780 doctors legally entitled to direct patients to use whiskey.

ARMISTICE PARADE SCENES

VITAL BIT OF HISTORY—Santa Ana's Elks staged a tableau of Washington taking command of his armies. The float was responsible for a tremendous applause as it passed through the main streets of Orange on Monday.

ANAHEIM'S CONTRIBUTION—Importance of water trade to the West coast was emphasized by the "Panama Canal Zone" float of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

'Nobody Cares What I Say,' Says Volstead

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An angular, morose man stalked the deck of the United States Line steamship America. First he refused to be interviewed; then he yielded reluctantly. What did he think? Did people in Europe drink as much as ever? These and other questions were shot at him, but he shrugged his shoulders and said: "Nobody cares what I say."

The man was Andrew J. Volstead, former congressman and author of the national prohibition act.

I Offer Girls

My aids to beauty, and to woman youth
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I had a rich, ambitious mother. She searched the world with me to find the supreme beauty helps. They made me a famous beauty. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, they keep me a beauty still.

Other girls, in these same ways, can multiply their beauty. Other women can, to old age, keep their youthful bloom. I want to help them do so. The very helps that France gave me are now at your command.

I am very—very busy on the stage. But I am taking time to tell you the secrets of my beauty and my youth. And I hope the time will come when girls and women by the millions will enjoy what I enjoy.

32 helps in four

I found 32 things that women need to keep them at their best. French experts combined them in four applications. Thus beauty and perennial youth were made very easy for me.

One is my White Youth Clay. Not like the crude and muddy clays so many use today. This clay is white, refined and dainty. Twenty years of scientific study have made it amazingly efficient. I use White Youth Clay to purge my skin of all that clogs or mars it. It gives me that rosy, baby-like complexion. Blackheads or pimples, oiliness or blemishes are unknown to me.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, keeps the face skin ever like a girl's.

One application of my White Youth Clay brings almost unbelievable results. Many women seem to drop ten years. Continued.

use does marvels, as it did for me. No girl or woman who once tries this clay will ever go without it. The price is 50 cents and $1.

Two matchless creams. My Youth Cream is a cold cream, based on lemon and strawberry. It is made to embody all the best that science knows to whiten, feed, protect and smooth the skin. I use it after the clay. It is also my night cream, to apply on retiring.

Daytimes I use it as a powder base. No one ever found a cold cream to compare with my Youth Cream.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. But it penetrates the skin to the depths. When I wipe it off, all that clogs the skin comes with it. No other method cleans a skin like this.

Luxuriant hair. My hair is thick and lustrous. It grows finer every year. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, never a touch of gray.

This is due to my Hair Youth, another French creation. I apply it daily with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It takes but a moment, and it does not muss the hair. I can do no greater kindness than to urge you to employ it. It costs 50 cents and $1.

All druggists and toilet counters supply these products which I use. The price is small. Every girl or woman, if she will, can have the benefits I got. Go find them out.

My Beauty Book comes with each. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukesha, Wis. Miss Hopper is now playing the Pantages vaudeville circuit of the Western States.

Stocks, Bonds, and Financial News

ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Against the stormy horizon of the European situation, stocks today stood out in bold relief. With the principal foreign exchange breaking badly because of the widening of the French franc between France and Britain over the reparations problem, the leading industrial and railroad issues gave a display of steadiness that was made the more remarkable by the fact that they had just passed through a period of exceptional activity at a rise in prices. Professional operators tried all day to bring about a general decline in motion feeling that the line of least resistance was in that direction in view of the apprehensions over the international outlook which found expression in the market for foreign bonds, as well as in the rates for exchange on the leading allied capitals. But attacks of this character were successful only in bringing about normal reactions. The stocks which had recently enjoyed substantial gains.

Trading Moderate

ON TURKEY MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Trading in poultry was moderate today with little change in prices quoted yesterday. Turkeys were in light demand but the market continued steady. Some effect on the turkey market resulted from the announcement of the United States bureau of agriculture that 5,200,000 pounds of dressed turkeys were in the United States storage bins as of November 1 of this year, as compared with holdings of 2,800,000 a year ago. Trading in turkeys was very limited. Grapes were in much lighter demand and prices were declining. Good seedless sold from $1.00 to $1.50 per bushel. A car of fancy navel oranges just received was selling at $6.75 to $6 per box.

Eighteen cars grapes, two of mixed melons, one of grapefruit, four of cranberries and five of California apples were received.

Green beans and peas were slightly weaker under light demand. About 300 boxes of tomatoes were received from South California but were not unloaded for the early trade. Southern eggplant sold at 6 and cents per pound. Hotset cucumbers were quoted at $1 to $1.75 per dozen, according to size and quality.

One car sweet potatoes, two of Idaho and one of Nevada Irish potatoes were received.

Find the Moral

By Bertton Bralay

The brooklets run down to the river.

The river runs down to the sea.

With meaning for you and for me.

Consider this marvelous motion.

This steady, continuous flow.

Consider the size of the ocean.

Where all of the rivers must go!

The brooklets run down to the river.

The river runs down to the sea.

What sermons a man could deliver.

What chances there'd certainly be.

To dwell with a whole lot of stress on.

The obvious natural facts.

Evolving a sternal moral lesson.

From just how a watershed acts.

What lessons are these we can gather.

From brooklets and rivers and seas?

Well, er—er—ahem! I would rather not go into that. If you please.

THIS sermon is kind of a flivver!

But still, you must wholly agree.

That brooklets run down to the river.

And rivers run down to the sea!

KNOWS HOW

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 16.—Justice DeGraff of the Iowa supreme court showed newspaper reporters men how to hammer the keys, in a recent decision written by him and concurred in by the other court. The decision reverses the findings of the Sioux City district court and denies a divorce to Neva Hilliker of Chatsworth, from Edwin B. Hilliker. Justice DeGraff summarizes the differences in these words: "While her ambition was to trip the light fantastic, the sighing saxophone and syncopated jazz had no charm for him. While she was paying homage to the terpsichorean muse, he felt that his and her first duty centered in the home and care of the son of tender years."

Santa Ana, Fullerton Battle Tomorrow

TEAMS REST ON EVE OF BIG FRAY

County's Annual Gridiron Classic Completes 1923 Season For Old Rivals

Santa Ana and Fullerton, traditional football rivals, jump for each other's throat again tomorrow afternoon in Orange county's annual "big game." The game, which will be played at Poly field here beginning at 2:30 o'clock, will be preceded by a skirmish between the 130-pound squads of the two schools. This melee get under way at 1 o'clock.

Although no championship honors will be at stake, both teams having been eliminated from the running for the Tri-County league title by early season defeats, the largest crowd of the season is expected to flock to the Poly enclosure. More than 5000 persons can be seated here and indications today were that fully 7000 will be on hand when the referee sounds his whistle for the first kickoff.

Figure rather inconsistent records of the two elevens, close followers of the grid sport here figure the game is a toss-up. Except for one engagement, that with Pasadena, Coach Ed Covington's forces have the "paper edge" on "Shorty" Smith's Redlegs. Smith, however, has a way about him of sending a strong Fullerton aggregation against Santa Ana even though the odds always seem against his team.

Both teams listened to a "blackboard" lecture of about an hour this afternoon and then ran signals for a few minutes just to limber up. The men then were dismissed with the admonition to rest until just before the morrow's fray.

Game Ends Season
The game will complete the 1923 season for both elevens. Many of the men on both squads will play their last time for their alma mater.

Coach Ed Covington today expressed the belief that his team would emerge victorious, but only after one of the hardest fought games of Santa Ana-Fullerton football history.

Since the disastrous game at Pasadena Covington has been more worried about his team losing its morale rather than being overconfident. The locals, in the past week, have shown more hustle and fight than at any time since December, Townsend and Williams were lost for the season and Covington figures they will be in there battling to the last ditch.

Linsensbard at Center
Captain Ed Linsensbard, playing his last game for Santa Ana, will lead Poly's forces on the field tomorrow. He will play center.

Ray Dawson and Henry Dungan will hold down the guards, Albert Sheets and Charlie Wood the tackles and Manley Natland and Clarence Smith the ends.

Dan Cook will play quarterback and Carl Lacy will open up at fullback. Oscar Spencer and Bill Luck have the call on the halfback jobs.

POLY GIRL CASABA FLOCK VICTORIOUS

The Santa Ana high school girls' basketball team yesterday afternoon sent the local institution on to a flying start for the football game here tomorrow with Fullerton.

The local basket shooters won a hard fought contest from the Fullerton co-eds on the court of the foe. The score was 13 to 9. Miss Thelma Patton, center, starred for the local aggregation.

The lineup:
Santa Ana Pos. Fullerton
F. Cocroft J. Muzzall
H. Foster F. M. McFadden
M. Cook C. I. Biedelfeld
T. Patton C. A. Corcoran
A. Tarver G. G. Wentz
Jo Crookshank G. Jean Dunlap

OLD ELI CONFIDENT OF BEATING TIGERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 16.—Frowned on by faculty and coaches who are stressing the danger of over-confidence, the Yale student body is all prepared for the big snake dance in front of the Princeton side of the Yale bowl tomorrow.

So sure is the campus that "Memphis Bill" Mallory's Yale team will win its first battle of the "big three" championship series of 12 to 5 are being offered that way.

Warnings that more than 2 to 1 is a stretched margin on any old football game, Yale undergraduates countered with a stopper—if it's sucker money, take it.

Yale has waited so long for a championship team that the possibilities shown by the varsity team in the earlier games of the season have worked the Ellis out of all sense of proportion.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Around the college campus it is termed psychology, and in the stuffy gyms, where gather the knights of the tin-ear, it is called "givin' 'em the apple sauce."

By any name it is, fundamentally, the effort to instill confidence in an athlete and its general application to all lines of sport has become a prominent factor in training.

It is not a new art, but its general application in sports is, at least, modern—and successful.

Bill Roper, wise and modern in the ways of coaching football, tried it with great success at Princeton last year, and great results were accomplished.

When Roper gathered around him in late summer the squad from which Princeton expected him to develop a team, he found that with the exception of fine spirit, the players at his disposal were not well equipped with the makings of great players.

Roper started working on that spirit and the theory that he could make it overcome physical and technical deficiencies and he had hung up in the club house various placards calling attention at every turn that "A team that won't be beaten, can't be beaten."

Transposing words and phrases, Roper's logic as pointed out to his more intellectually alert young athletes was that a fight manager might say to a boxer who "didn't have much":

"You're game, and that's half the fight. You go in there and stay in there and when that bird misses you, clip him on the jaw. Clip him every time he misses and we'll win. If you don't, you'll lose."

Princeton's success last season in developing a team with a good claim for the eastern championship was founded upon the belief and the following up of the theory that every team in every game is bound to make a mistake and those mistakes could be turned into a Princeton victory.

Every mistake that a team made against Princeton last year was developed to the maximum possibility by the Tigers.

Jack Wilce, Ohio State coach, found himself this fall in very much the same position Roper was in last year, and Wilce tried the same way out of it, without success in the same degree.

WASHINGTON MEETS BRUINS TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Out of the football games to be played on the coast during the next two weeks will develop the western team to meet the navy team at Pasadena New Years day.

Tomorrow is expected to eliminate either Washington or California.

But the final decision as to coast leadership cannot be reached for another week and the tournament of roses committee, in charge of the Pasadena game, has sent word that it will make no selection until after California and Stanford play the "big game" Nov. 24.

ANNOUNCE CHANGES IN ORANA MANAGERS

The interest in the Orange County Athletic club, at Orana, of C. I. McCoy, matchmaker, has been taken over by Harry Johnson and George Antoine, it was learned here today.

"The new management," Johnson said today, "wishes to assure the fans of Orange county the finest of boxing entertainment possible to obtain under the present state boxing code."

The wrestling bouts announced at last week's show as a coming attraction have been cancelled, Johnson said. A high-class card of five boxing matches has been substituted for next Wednesday night. This will be headed by a main event between Speedy Sparks, Oklahoma middleweight, and Sailor Steve Biss, always a popular performer in Orange county.

JEFFRIES REFEREES AT BEACH TONIGHT

Former World Champion Named Third Man in Ring For Lee, McKay Tilt

HUNTINGTON BEACH CARD
Main Event—Harry Lee vs. Gordon McKay, 160 pounds.

Semi-final—Marty Kane vs. Jack Burns, 125 pounds.

Preliminaries—Ralph (Kid) Walker vs. Paul DeHate, 123 pounds.

Roy Moore vs. Douglas Lewis, 148 pounds.

Fat Rafael vs. Stanley Shimkus, heavyweights.

Skip Leabo vs. Jack (Frisco) Lewis, 128 pounds.

Walter Beck vs. K. O. Montoya, 118 pounds.

With Jim Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, as the third man in the ring, Harry Lee, Huntington Beach lifeguard, and Gordon McKay, one of the best middleweights on the Pacific coast, will tangle in the main event at Kid Mexico's Huntington Beach arena tonight.

The bout will mark McKay's initial appearance in an Orange county arena.

Lee completed his training preparation yesterday, doing a few rounds with his sparring mates and winding up with a couple of miles of work on the road. He is in the best of shape and is confident of trimming his more experienced rival.

Little Marty Kane has been glimpsed in action just twice at the beach oil city but he is a great drawing card already and Kid Mexico acted wisely when he promoted him to the semi-final event where he will collide with Jack Burns, a highly-touted Australian. Kane is an aggressive boxer and hits well with either hand. He won his last start in three rounds by a knockout.

Kid Walker and Paul DeHate, both willing mixers, tangle in the feature preliminary. Young Moore faces Douglas Lewis, a colored lad and the only boy who ever took a decision from him. Fat Rafael and Stanley Shimkus, heavyweights, got a spot on the card. Two other preliminaries get the fans in humor.

The eye-opener is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

HARRY GREB WINS
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 16.—Winning all but the first round, Harry Greb, middleweight champion, took an easy victory from Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, here last night. Wiggins put up a hot fight but could not cope with Greb's hard wallops. The battle went ten rounds, Greb weighed 166 and Wiggins 177.

Jack Iman, Santa Ana middleweight, got off to a good beginning around San Francisco boxing circles where he won his first two starts but Sunny Jim, the San Diego colored lad, had no mercy on him at Oakland last Tuesday night.

Sunny Jim stopped the local boy in the second round of their feature preliminary.

On the same card Jimmy Duffy easily outpointed Eddie (K. O.) Roberts, claimant to the Pacific coast welterweight title. Eddie Kelly and "Dynamite" Murphy boxed a draw in the semi-windup.

Heavyweights Top Monday Card For Delhi Arena; Tom Sharkey to Box

Sam Eisman, sensational Los Angeles heavyweight who has won his last eleven starts by knockouts, will collide with the toughest battler of his career at Tommy McFarland's Delhi arena next Monday night. Appearing in the main event, Eisman will tangle with Victor Alexander, the huge colored 180-pounder, who has long been a stumbling block for all the ambitious heavyweights in the South.

As a special attraction, Promoter McFarland has arranged for the famous Tom Sharkey, old-time heavyweight, to box an exhibition with Frank Fields, another headliner of days gone by.

Toby Montoya and Billy Craig have been signed for a return engagement and Joe White will mess with Jimmy Brown. A battle royal will be a special feature.

Zev, In Memoriam To Run Over Fast Track

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 16.—The $25,000 match race between Zev and In Memoriam at Churchill Downs Saturday will be run over a fast track.

Fair and cooler weather is predicted for tomorrow, assuring a course that will favor Carl Wiedemann's colt. It also will not militate against the chances of Zev, but a slow track will be in his favor.

HERSHEY CLAIMS MONEY CAME HIS WAY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 15.—"When I quit trying to make money and settled down, I began to make money," said Millionaire Milton S. Hershey, the chocolate manufacturer, in the first interview he ever gave relative to himself and how he came to merge sixteen large corporations into a trust for the Hershey industrial school which he founded in the model town of Hershey.

It was the fact that he made money that enabled the manufacturer to establish his orphanage back in 1893, and it was the fact that the money began coming in by millions that decided him to devote his wealth to his school while he was still alive.

The greatest question in life to Hershey, however, is those millions. So numerous have they grown that his business is estimated conservatively at $50,000,000. His factories turn out more chocolate than any other two in the world.

Kept Level Head

"How my wealth grew, I do not know," he said. "I kept a level head. After everybody advised me I would be foolish to try to build up the chocolate business in the midst of hilly fields, I went ahead. Neither do I know how it was I put it over on my competitors."

Hershey explained how it was that the trust fund for his school, which is his pet hobby, was formed in 1918. He has never made the matter public. His explanation is in keeping with the modesty of the man, who in the past has always dodged newspaper men and refused all inquiries at his home to his friend and chief counsel, John E. Snyder.

"It would have seemed like taking an undue advantage of my competitors," he said, "to have talked about my plans for the industrial school. I began to think of the matter back in 1898 and 1899, when I purchased the homestead where my father, Henry Hershey, had lived near Hershey, and which eventually was the first building of the school. Ten years later my wife and I decided the homestead and about 500 acres of land to the school and then, after I saw how the business was growing and substantially upon its feet, I decided upon the trust plan."

Why He Took Stand

"To have advertised that to the world then would have seemed like advertising, like telling the people to eat more chocolate to aid the orphans and my competitors would have understood it in that way and said I was taking advantage of them."

The reason that I provided for the school trust was that I might get the foundation laid while I am still alive. If I pass away tomorrow it would be worth the knowledge that the plant would go right ahead and there would be no one to step in and upset things. The whole arrangement would continue just as if I were here."

Hershey is now 68 years old. He is of medium build, ruddy of complexion. He has gray hair, somewhat unruly in the front, and with heavy black eyebrows and a short gray moustache.

Hershey as a boy attended school in Lancaster county, but he never had the opportunity to go to college. He began work while still young and in explaining how eventually he got into the chocolate business said it was his liking for chocolate candy when a boy.

Ambitious, Hershey started out to make money. He went into the candy business and at 21 was retailing confectionery in Philadelphia during the centennial celebration in 1876. He then went west and later returned to New York, where he failed. He went to Lancaster eventually and there opened up a caramel factory, later making chocolate.

Crawls on His Knees to Give Warning of Bandits

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—His ability to travel swiftly on his hands and knees saved J. J. McGrath, head of the McGrath Steamship agency from robbery.

Two young men entered the agency late in the afternoon and threatened McGrath with revolvers. He hid behind the counter and then crawled out of the room by a back door. With a policeman he hurried back to the agency, but the bandits were gone. Nothing was taken.

Collected His Insurance, But He Was Much Alive

PORTAGE, Wis., Nov. 14.—Mourning as dead for several weeks Timothy Collins, 62, a widower, came back to his home in the little town of Montello, near here, recently, to assure relatives that he is alive and well and to suggest that they were a little too hasty in collecting $2000 insurance he carried.

Recently the body of a man was found beside the railroad tracks near Fort Snelling. It was identified as that of Collins and sent to Montello and buried.

Anna Q. Nilsson in "Ponjola."

Anna Q. Nilsson as she appears in "Ponjola," picture which closes its engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

ACTORS ENDURE HARDSHIPS TO OBTAIN SCENES

Numerous hardships were endured by the Thomas H. Ince film company while on location at Yuma, Arizona, where the big flood scenes for "Her Reputation," the current film attraction at the Temple theater, were made.

The small hotel at Yuma could not accommodate everyone in the troupe so the majority had to take to the canvas. Living in tents sounded very thrilling and "sheikish," but after the actors had encountered every known and near-known insect—the novelty began to wane.

One night one of the Laguna Dam flood gates was unexpectedly opened, and the campers had to pile out, fold their tents and noisily steal away.

Another night Lloyd Hughes scorned the shelter of his tent and rolled up in blankets in the sand. He did not know until morning that he had been the means of keeping a mama and four baby rattlers comfortable and warm.

"Where ignorance is bliss—" You know the rest; so does Lloyd Hughes!

The tact of Director John Griffith Wray kept the actors on the job until the scenes were finished.

"PONJOLA" CLOSING YOST ENGAGEMENT TONIGHT

A refined girl, a victim of circumstances, decides that the world is not for women but for men only. Masquerading as a man she seeks to hide herself in Africa where she is thrown into a maelstrom of excitement, adventure and romance.

This briefly is the theme of "Ponjola," the picture which will be shown for the last time tonight at the Yost theater.

"Ponjola" is a vivid picturization of Cynthia Stockley's famous masterpiece of South African gold field life, which proved a sensation in book form and promises to be no less of a sensation as a screen drama.

It tells the story of an English noblewoman who is disguised as a man, fights the curse of "Ponjola," the soul destroying drink of the gold miners; fights for the man she loves and willingly offers to sacrifice herself for the man by standing trial for a murder which the man commits.

In the role of "Desmond," the girl, Anna Q. Nilsson, will be seen in a part which critics declare is the greatest role of her whole stage or screen career. James Kirkwood enacts the part of the man.

Other popular screen favorites in the picture are Tully Marshall, Ruth Clifford, Joseph Kilgour, Claire Du Brey, Claire McDowell and Bernard Randall.

"ITCHING PALMS" SHOWS AT PRINCESS THEATER

"Itching Palms," the current attraction at the Princess theater, is a fast-moving conglomeration of thrilling and amusing situations in which the peepiest grandma ever shown on the screen is carried through the most amazing experiences that probably ever befell an elderly lady. Grandma Gano, superbly impersonated by Gertrude Claire, is the central figure of this sparkling vehicle which comes to the screen through the auspices of the Film Booking Offices of America.

Reminiscent of "The Bat" in its thrilling and laugh-creating scenes, "Itching Palms" unfolds an engrossing story, the plot of which it is better to withhold in view of the suspense which is maintained from start to finish.

The cast includes Tom Gallery, Virginia Fox, Tom Wilson, Vic Potel, Gertrude Claire and Robert Walker.

CHARLES RAY'S NEW FILM SHOWS AT WEST END

Charles Ray's latest release is "The Deuce of Spades" and finds its motive in a sparkling comedy idea revolving about that card, which has been adapted from the story of the late Charles E. Van Loan's "The Weight of the Last Straw." The picture is at the West End.

In line with his policy of giving his successive screen productions distinctive characters, the star blossoms forth this time as a young unsophisticated Bostonian who comes to the Montana mining community of Little Butte for business and future. His immaturity makes him a fit subject for all the con games ever invented. He buys a restaurant under rather unusual conditions, the establishment being about ready to give its expiring gasp when the youngster takes it over and makes something of a go of it by installing a few precepts of cleanliness and business management.

The final straw is packed on his back when he becomes the victim of the oldest card sharper's trick ever invented, the one that Noah is said to have made a clean up with. The hoax wears down the final bit of his passive reserve and he shoots things up, not only winning everybody's self respect, but also regaining his lost wealth, while the girl of his choice looks on approvingly.

Tots Escapes Death In Fall from Auto Into Busy Street

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Baby Seerman, 22-month-old child of Mrs. A. Seerman, is protected by a lucky star whose benign influence was most potent this morning. Miraculously, the child escaped death when it was thrown out of the open window of the coupe the mother was driving when the car struck a traffic button on a downtown street.

The child landed in the street filled with hundreds of speeding cars, many of which had to swerve quickly in order to avoid striking the infant.

A severe shaking up was the only injury suffered by the baby.

BISHOPS REAFFIRM BELIEF IN CREEDS

(By United Press Leased Wire)

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 16.—Members of the house of bishops of the Episcopal church in America, meeting here, went on record reaffirming the virgin birth of Christ and declaring that "ministerial denial or trifling with belief in the creed cannot but expose us to the suspicion and the danger of dishonesty and unreality."

The pronouncement was believed to have been made as a result of the recent controversy in which the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant of New York occupied a prominent part.

At their business session today the bishops were to vote on nominations made for the post of Missionary bishop of Spokane, Wash.

News from Orange County

TWO WELLS AT ORANGE SHOW OIL SIGNS

ORANGE, Nov. 16.—Although geologists and other oil authorities steadfastly maintain that the Southern California oil fields are going dry, independent operators, drilling here today, refute the assertion, indicating as an example that unusual drilling activity, with promise of good results, is now sweeping Orange county, particularly this section.

The Orange Community Oil association's Forker well No. 1, drilling on a 390-acre community lease, is considered one of the most encouraging "wildcat" wells in Southern California, according to oil authorities who have visited the local field during their rounds of the entire Southland.

With the drill biting through hard sandy shale, the hole was down 2988 feet today and averaging about fifty feet of hole per day. Oil and sand colors are prominent at this depth with every indication that the well will be brought in within the next five hundred feet. The company, it is understood, is preparing to lower pipe into the hole within the next few days.

Oil sand has been pierced four times during the drill's downward journey, the last layer struck measuring approximately 75 feet. The Penn. Drilling company has passed the "spudding in" stage at its "wildcat" well three blocks east of the Community oil well, and is now well down past 500 feet.

Spirited leasing activity is drawing attention to the field with the result that it will be struck scores of derricks will rise within a short space of time, making Orange a flourishing oil town virtually overnight.

Skyscraper Crooks Face Hard Future

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The burglar who operates only in offices in skyscrapers will have a much harder time in the future as the result of a plan of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers. Photographers, descriptions of dress, peculiarities and in the case of known burglars, measurements of those men who are known or suspected of belonging to the gang of skyscraper burglars will be sent to every elevator starter and doorman of every large building in the United States whenever there is an epidemic of such burglaries, according to the announcement made at the headquarters of the association today.

The officials of the association are confident that an organized gang of highly talented crooks operates in skyscrapers. The method used is for some well-dressed and well educated member of the gang to work his way into the good graces of some high social set. He gains the confidence of numerous men of affairs and learns the probable location of money or securities in these men's offices.

116 Balboa People Claim Right to Vote Established

BALBOA, Nov. 16.—The 116 residents of Balboa, whose names appear on the voters' lists and who will at least attempt to vote at the referendum and recall election to be held Tuesday have taken the stand that they are entitled to vote on the project because their property interests are in jeopardy, according to one of the opponents to the plan to grant a franchise to the company intending to lay a pipe line to the Newport Beach pier.

The claim that the leakage and waste oil which is certain to pollute the waters adjacent to the pier will spoil the bathing at Balboa, thereby depreciating their property values and ruining Balboa as a resort settlement.

If the matter is carried to the courts they are prepared to contest their rights regardless of the opinion given at the meeting of the Newport Beach trustees on Monday night, by the city attorney.

CITE POST FOR 1923 RECORD OF SERVICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 16.—A citation for meritorious service has been received by L. E. Mitchell, adjutant of the local American Legion post, from the department of California.

The citation, which is in the form of a certificate, bears the signature of the department commander and also the seal of California. The citation certifies that the local post membership was greater during the year of 1923 than it was during the year of 1922.

Local legionnaires plan to frame the document and hang it up in the club room. The American Legion hold their meetings in the local fire hall.

The local post conducted memorial services at the grave of their departed comrade, John B. French, of this city who died after returning from active service in the World war. His death came as a result of being gassed in France.

It was decided at the last meeting of the local post to send a delegation to the next meeting of the Orange county council to ask for the Armistice day celebration for Huntington Beach next year.

It is known that the chamber of commerce and other civic bodies are behind the movement.

"Huntington Beach, it has been pointed out, will be the logical place to hold the next Armistice Day celebration. Although it will be a hard proposition to accomplish we intend to show them a better time than did Orange," said J. A. Armitage, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

MISSING SLOOP TURNS UP AT AVALON DOCK

BALBOA, Nov. 16.—For more than forty-eight hours it was thought that Raymond Laws of Los Angeles, with two men and two women companions, had lost their lives in the Pacific off this port, but they turned up alive and well, according to word received from them at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island.

On Sunday, Laws, who has an office in the Pacific Mutual building, Los Angeles, purchased the Tom Boy, a twenty-eight-foot centerboard sloop from Capt. W. E. Spofford, of this city, and with his companions started out for a Sunday picnic at the cove just south of the Balboa jetty. They had no compass, nor did they have a motor in the boat.

Shortly after 9 p. m. Sunday a boat which was supposed to be theirs was noticed near the light-house. A searchlight from the harbor located it. Later, when an effort was made to put in a motor boat, it was noticed that the sloop had disappeared.

On Monday no word was had from the party and frequently throughout the day the horizon was scanned by those interested, but no trace of the little craft was seen. Several power boats put out and ran up and down the coast. Finally, according to Capt. Spofford, it was believed that the party had sailed for San Pedro, where Laws was thought to have anchored his craft at the California Yacht clubhouse.

Late Tuesday night a telephone message was received from Laws saying that his craft had been becalmed on the ocean for more than a day and that finally he had succeeded in making Catalina Island. The women in the party had returned to their homes on the steamer, and Laws and his companions would bring the boat back. They arrived late yesterday afternoon, none the worse for their experience.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY PICKED AT ORANGE

ORANGE, Nov. 16.—The Seniors of Orange union high school have decided on their play to be given in the spring. It is to be "Twelfth Night," by Shakespeare.

Mr. Carrier, the dramatics instructor said, "I realize that to some of you 'Twelfth Night' does not sound very interesting. But if you have seen the play you will know that it is even better than 'The Taming of the Shrew,' the play put on by the seniors last year."

On November 25, at the Fine Arts theater in Los Angeles "Twelfth Night" will be shown, and many seniors who are intending to try out for the play will see it.

Gale Blows Man Off Ship and Back Again

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 16.—Swept off the Fabre liner Britania and carried back again by a heavy sea, to be rescued by members of the crew, was the experience of Chief Steward Alphonse Seguin of that vessel, which arrived from Madeira with several hundred passengers. Mrs. Joan Tubrey of Marshfield suffered a sprained ankle during the tempest when her deck chair was overturned.

Fish Bait Draws Big Mallard Duck; Tries to Fly Off

BALBOA, Nov. 16.—Fishermen here have become duck hunters, and at least one has succeeded in securing a bird, even if he didn't fire a shot.

Halibut fishing from the pier is reported fine these days and dozens of anglers are trying their luck daily with varied degrees of success. On Tuesday one of the anglers, who had temporarily leaned his pole against the railing while he discussed the coming referendum election, heard the hum of his reel as the line was running out, and rushing over, he grasped the pole and reel, and at once came to the conclusion that he had the record catch of the season.

Simultaneously with the stopping of the line, the water broke some distance from the pier and the "fish" took wing, but it didn't get far. The fisherman reeled in and brought the captive to the pier. It proved to be a fine mallard duck, which had dived for the bait, and swallowed it, hook and all.

End of World to Be Subject for Pastor

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 16.—Rev. Luther A. Arthur, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city will speak again at the Immanuel hall on the corner of Sixth and French streets of Santa Ana, Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m.

ALIEN EXCLUSION GAINS ADVOCATES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—That legislation excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship in the United States will automatically solve the Oriental immigration problems without discrimination, was the unanimous opinion at a conference of American Legion and labor heads at American Legion headquarters here.

It was pointed out that the Legion at its recent national convention made it the duty of the national executives and each state department to take steps to promote immediate legislation on the subject of excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship, and that the American Federation of Labor had taken similar steps. It was also noted that the first three organizations in national convention and all four organizations in state convention had urged that congress pass such laws immediately.

Morgan Keaton, Legion adjutant, declared that a provision calling for the exclusion of ineligible aliens will be included in the new immigration bill to be presented to congress in December. The conference advised the members of the delegation present that it would be equally satisfactory to have the provision desired included in a general immigration bill or made the sole purpose of a general bill as seemed most expedient. The main point, it was declared, is to obtain the legislation and have it operating effectively.

ORANGE SCHOOL SENIORS TO OFFER PLAY

ORANGE, Nov. 16.—"Little Women" is the play which the senior dramatics class of Orange high school will give tonight. The play is in three acts, and will take about two hours to present.

As the story took place in the early days, the costumes and stage settings are very old fashioned. This gives an added charm and piquancy to the play.

The cast is as follows:
Mrs. March.....Elizabeth George
Mr. March.....Clarence Alden
Meg.....Portia Friedenbloom
John Brooke.....Elmer Nichols
Jo.....Elvira Borchard
Prof. Baeer.....Charles Jackson
Beth.....Esther Ralph
Amy.....Laura Anderson
Laurie.....La Verne Brown
Hannah.....Agnes Decker
Mr. Laurence.....Dick Spencer
Aunt March.....Marjorie Thomson
The play, written by Marian De Forest, who adapted it from the book by Louisa May Alcott, pictures the home life of the four girls, Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy. Meg, being the eldest, is a model for the other girls, and is very sweet and womanly. Jo is the topsy-turvy one, and she never got over the disappointment of not being a boy. Beth and Amy are both sweet little girls, but their characters are entirely different.

LEGION AUXILIARY PLANNING AFFAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 16.—Members of the local American Legion and of the American Legion auxiliary are hard at work on the finishing details for their big dance and entertainment to be given in the Municipal auditorium Wednesday night Nov. 21.

Entertainment committees of both of the lodges are planning to have the main part of the program consist of home talent. Literary and musical numbers will be included on the program.

The dance will follow the program, it was said. One of the main features secured for the event is the local high school dramatic class who will put on a number of stunts.

The proceeds of the affair will be used for the Christmas fund and also for the building fund. The local Legion post is now out of debt and expects to build a new club house some time in the near future.

Beach Boy Scouts Plan Entertainment

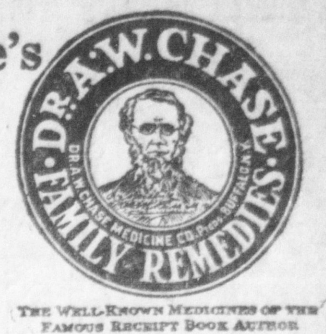

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 16.—Local Boy Scouts are busy laying plans for their benefit entertainment here December 7. The proceeds of the benefit will go toward the Christmas fund and will also be used to furnish the log cabin, provided it is finished by that time.

The cabin is nearly completed at the present time but owing to the lack of workmen the date of completion is rather indefinite. Local carpenters and members of the Lions club are doing the work on the building.

Arrangements are being made to bring the California Jubilee Concert singers here for the benefit. It is also expected that several other special features will be put on by the Boy Scouts.

HARRY THAW'S SON WANTS TO BE SURGEON

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 14.—There's a 12-year-old boy here who doesn't like to play. Games don't interest him. Youth holds little charm for him. He is impatient to grow up.

He wants to make up for the suffering of his parents, by the happiness of his success.

He wants the world to think of Evelyn Nesbit and Harry K. Thaw not as the principals of the most sensational murder trial of more than a decade ago, but as the father and mother of Russell Thaw, renowned surgeon.

Young Thaw is living here in a small apartment with his mother. "It's the first time in many, many years," she says, smiling happily, "that I've been able to have him all to myself. For most of his time had been spent at my mother's in upstate New York."

"But now, at last, I'm in a position to take good care of him. And I hope we'll never, never again be parted."

And they won't—If Russell has his way. His mother's unhappiness seems to have made his love for her the greater, and her attachment to him the closer.

Each night before she leaves for her work as hostess in a cabaret, Evelyn Nesbit goes over her son's lessons.

"He's the head of his class," she says proudly, "and the teachers tell me is one of the brightest pupils they ever had."

When she is sure that his work is complete, she puts him to bed, entrusts his care to a maid, and goes to her work.

"But I never let my work interfere with his bringing up," she says. "He comes first, above everything else."

In the afternoons, while most children are playing, Russell waits on the physicians of a hospital. They let him watch some of their operations. It's his greatest joy.

"He keeps on dreaming," says the mother, "of the time when he will be able to go to medical school and become a great surgeon. Perhaps by his alleviation of pain, he will make up for the suffering of humanity."

"No small brunt of which I have borne."

$30,000 IS SOUGHT
BY SPURNED GIRL

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 14.—Nothing but $30,000, she says, will atone for the wounded heart of Anna Suszka, 23.

Joseph Wronasokicz, 38, after a few weeks of torrid courtship, suddenly spurned her love, she says, and now or whenever her breach of promise suit comes to trial, she is determined he must pay.

Anna finds solace in the hope Joseph cannot marry "the other girl" until the court has made a decision on her appeal.

She says Joseph began showering her with attentions last March and a month later his endearment had reached such a stage that he sought her hand in marriage, to which she consented.

On October 3, however, Joseph suddenly announced his change of heart when he caused marriage banns to be published in church, announcing his plans to wed another girl, she alleges.

Dog Causes Rift In Family at University

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 14.—The preference of a mother-in-law was only one of the things which broke up the home of Professor Joseph Cannon, of the University of Michigan, according to a cross-bill and answer to a suit for divorce instituted by Mrs. Cannon, who declares it was she and not he who showed fits of temper, charges he endured the following abuses:

He had to allow an old, fat, filthy bulldog to have its way in the house above his own. The dog belonged to his wife's brother, who lived in Detroit.

When he was stricken with appendicitis, he asked for an icepack, and after his wife filled it, he she dropped it on him intentionally, causing intense pain.

When he moved into their new home, the room he had planned for a study was given to his mother-in-law, and another room was given to his wife's brother.

Engine Carries Auto, Driver for Half Mile

DALTON, Ga., Nov. 14.—Carried in the wreckage of his automobile for a half mile on the pilot of the engine and escaping without serious injury was the experience of Homer Painter, young son of Doc Painter, whose automobile was hit at the Long street crossing by a southern train.

The train was going at a rapid speed when it hit the car, driven by the boy. The car was completely demolished. The train was stopped about a half a mile from where it hit the automobile. The boy was hurried to a physician, and an examination showed no bones broken. Aside from severe bruises he appears none the worse for his experience.

FAVOR GOOD ROADS

HOUSTON, Nov. 12.—Brazoria county has voted $350,000 good roads bonds, and Madison county an issue of $300,000 for the same purpose. Both counties gave overwhelming majorities for them.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Divide the oblong into five pieces which will fit together to form the square. The oblong is five times as long as it is wide. This is the problem that confronted the carpenter, who wished to make a square cover. It may be worked backward if you divide the oblong into five pieces that will form the square.

EVENING SALUTATION

JOY

So take joy home.
And make a place in thy great heart for her,
And give her time to grow, and cherish her.
Then will she come, and oft will sing to thee.
When thou art working in the furrows; ay,
Or weeding in the sacred hour of dawn.
It is a comely fashion to be glad—
Joy is the grace we say to God.

FRUIT GROWERS COMING

The dates, December 6 and 7, are likely to be remembered by fruit growers of Orange county. Perhaps not so much the exact dates as the occasion. On those dates, the California Fruit Growers' convention is to be held in Santa Ana.

This gathering is looked upon as the most important gathering of fruit growers of the year, in this state. Attendance at the meetings of the conventions is as good as a college course. In this meeting is concentrated all that is newest in the way of reports on experimentation. Advice to the grower is given out by the most thoroughly trained and most widely experienced leaders in agricultural and horticultural thought in the state.

Santa Ana and the growers of Orange county may feel thankful that the convention is to be held here. The history of this gathering all over the state is that it leaves behind it with residents of the county in which it is held an inestimable amount of information and inspiration, of inestimable value.

These gatherings point the way the industries are going. It is a place where the year's experiences of a practical nature as worked out by scientific men and practical producers are recounted. The story of problems and their solutions is told.

The opportunity given to men of this country to attend the meetings is one that will be welcomed. The opportunity given us to entertain men of the caliber of those who will be here from all over the state will be welcomed and made the most of by the residents of this county.

TELLING THEM THE STORY

We believe that one of the most practical steps taken in community publicity in months was the decision of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to institute lectures at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Several years ago, Orange county maintained a lectureship and moving picture arrangement at the Los Angeles Chamber. It was our belief then, and it is our belief now, that the lectures and moving pictures showing Orange county scenes were a means of interesting many hundreds of men and women in Orange county. Because it was found that money was needed elsewhere and that expenditures somewhere had to be cut, the board of supervisors discontinued the service.

D. W. McDannald, who represented the county in the lectures given a few years ago, it now telling the tourists the story for the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. And he knows that story, and he knows how to tell it effectively.

Los Angeles is the best place on earth where a representative of Santa Ana may get in touch with prospective residents. Those coming from the East to California, in the main, go first to Los Angeles, and from that place they explore Southern California. If not on the first day of his arrival, then soon afterward, the tourist walks into the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce seeking information. On the theory that through personal work with the tourist more can be done than through broadcast advertising in Eastern magazines or newspapers, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has instituted its community representation in the Los Angeles publicity headquarters.

This tourist, first of all, desires facts. If he is a farmer, he desires to know what land is worth, how crops are grown in California, what the profits are, what he can do with $5,000, what prospect there is for work, what chance there is for his daughter to get a position as schoolteacher, how much rent he would have to pay, how taxes are, how much a day he can make as a carpenter, and—

The questions he asks are endless, and it would be unwise to have a representative who was not full of definite information. McDannald can answer almost any question that may be asked concerning Santa Ana, and if he can't answer it off hand, he knows where and how to get the information.

A WORLD FLIGHT NEXT

So rapid and spectacular has been the development of American aviation lately, under the stimulus of government encouragement, that it is hardly surprising to hear of the war department's plan for a world-circling flight next spring.

Five planes of a new type will be used in this venture, if the recommendations of Major General Patrick of the Army Air Service are carried out. He is sure they are capable of the trip, and "expects every one of the planes to make a perfect record."

The proposed route is westward, across the continent and north to Alaska, then across Bering Strait and down the coast of Asia, from island to island, until India is reached, thence to Persia, back northward to Scandinavia, over the Atlantic to Greenland and south to the starting place.

The new planes are said to be capable of continuous flights of 2,000 miles without refueling, and the longest "hop" over water need not be more than 1,000 miles. That makes the plan look feasible, even if some of the planes do fail of a "perfect record," provided care is taken to have supplies of fuel and oil and facilities for repair and replacement of parts at every important stopping place.

This would be a logical following up of the flight across the Atlantic successfully undertaken by the United States navy a couple of years ago with a seaplane.

Such efforts serve admirably to promote the general progress of aviation, while adding to the fighting efficiency of our air service. It is a kind of pioneering in which the government may well engage quite aside from its military value, because of the immense utility possible in this field for purposes of peace.

THE GERMAN ARMY QUOTA

With civil war seemingly imminent in Germany, the French government has thrown a bombshell into that bewildered country by demanding a counting of German troops. Paris reminds Berlin that by the treaty of Versailles German military forces were limited to 100,000 men. Premier Poincare is convinced that there are more Germans than that under arms now, and he intends to disarm the surplus.

There is method in that inquiry. Not only has France a natural objection to a large standing army in Germany from considerations of French safety, but France realizes how its problems of reparation and occupation will be complicated if Germany is able to put a powerful force into the field. The immediate purpose may be to prevent the mobilizing of enough troops, by the German republic, to suppress the Rhineland separation movement or any similar movement approved by France.

The episode reminds students of history rather strikingly of a similar situation a little over a century ago. Napoleon, after conquering Prussia, limited that country's standing army to 100,000 men, just as the Allies did after the recent World War. Germany cleverly got around the limitation then by changing the personnel of the army every few months, so that soon there were many hundred thousand troops available for service—which were used to good advantage. Will that bit of history be repeated?

Right, But Hopeless

San Bernardino Sun

Chairman Albert E. Boynton of the Republican State Central Committee, is out with a ringing declaration in which he calls the attention of the National Republican Committee to the fact that delegates to the national convention should be on the basis of the Republican vote cast, and by that measurement, California should have 39 instead of 28 delegates in the national convention next year.

The point that Senator Boynton makes is that Southern States, where there is nothing of the Republican party but a "skeleton organization of professional job-holders," have no right to representation in the convention beyond the vote cast for Republican candidates in those states. Which is always small. Says he:

I believe that it is the obligation and duty of the Republicans of California to demand their equitable representation in the national convention of their party next year and to insist that one of the delegates rightfully belonging to this state, as a result of the overwhelming support it gave to the Republican ticket in 1920, shall be arbitrarily taken away from it and transferred to a group of traditionally Democratic states, which have no claim whatever to an important influence in the affairs of our party.

From Virginia to Texas there is not a chance that a delegate in the national convention will represent one electoral vote at the finish. Then why permit their delegations to be seated in the convention and trafficked and traded by political influences wholly without their States?

There is probably not a Republican State in the Union whose party conventions are held on any such basis, if they hold conventions. The invariable rule is to apportion the representation on the basis of the vote at a recent election. But, proper as it is, Senator Boynton need not expect to see the reform brought about. The national committee did slightly cut the southern representation in its tentative list of delegates, and gave California two more than the 26 that the strict basis would accord us. But 28 delegates will be all we will get in the convention of 1924.

School Visitation Day

Stockton Independent

That's a splendid custom established by the Stockton High School of holding "Open House," annually, affording as it does an excellent opportunity for all interested citizens to become better acquainted with the school and its activities.

The schools belong to the people of the community and every citizen ought to be interested in them. This setting of a special "at home" day ought to do much toward encouraging a better understanding between community and school.

We think it likely if more of such visiting were done, some of the unintelligent and destructive criticism that we hear from time to time would change into an appreciation of the progress that has been made in educational methods during recent years. The average adult would be impressed with the wide variety of choice afforded the pupils of today as well as with all the modern equipment that is provided him to work with. While no individual can have absolute determination just as no nation can have it in the fullest degree, still modern curriculums do present a great variety and latitude of choice. To visit the class rooms, the exhibits of various sorts of arts and crafts, to enjoy the programs of music, drama and dancing of these students, is to give to those who have not kept up with modern methods a completely new insight and appreciation of what the schools of today are accomplishing.

Intelligent criticisms of the school as of any other institution is helpful, but let us first become familiar with all the admirable factors in our educational systems and try to know what we are talking about when we begin to criticize.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

SO EASY TO TRAVEL

Some water gets into your house by means of an open front door. It flows along from vestibule to living room, to dining room, and to kitchen.

If you discover the open door early, you get busy and sweep or mop the water out, and it doesn't get past your vestibule.

Perhaps you get busy by the time it has reached the dining room. On the other hand you may not discover it until even your kitchen is flooded.

What is my comparison? That an ordinary cold when it enters your system may effect only your nose and mouth—your vestibule. You then check it by appropriate measures.

Should it extend further to your throat you may have tonsillitis or laryngitis. From throat also it may go up to middle ear.

Extending further to your bronchial tubes you would have bronchitis, and then extending to the little tubes that really form your lungs, you would have what is called pneumonia.

The same floor that is in your vestibule extends on the same level right through to your kitchen, nothing to stop the water getting to the kitchen, except that the quantity might not be sufficient to reach it.

Similarly the extent of the "cold" you get may not be sufficient to keep traveling all the way down to the lungs. Sometimes your cold begins directly in the bronchial tubes.

But you can readily see that it is not really a hard proposition for it to go along the floor or tubs right to the smallest of the little tubes that form the lungs.

Further that cold irritates the lining all the way, and juices are poured out which you cough or spit out as fast as they are formed.

Now up in the nose and throat there is plenty of room for these juices. There is also considerable room in the bronchial tubes, and they do not usually get plugged up by the excessive amount, or thickness of the juices when you have bronchitis.

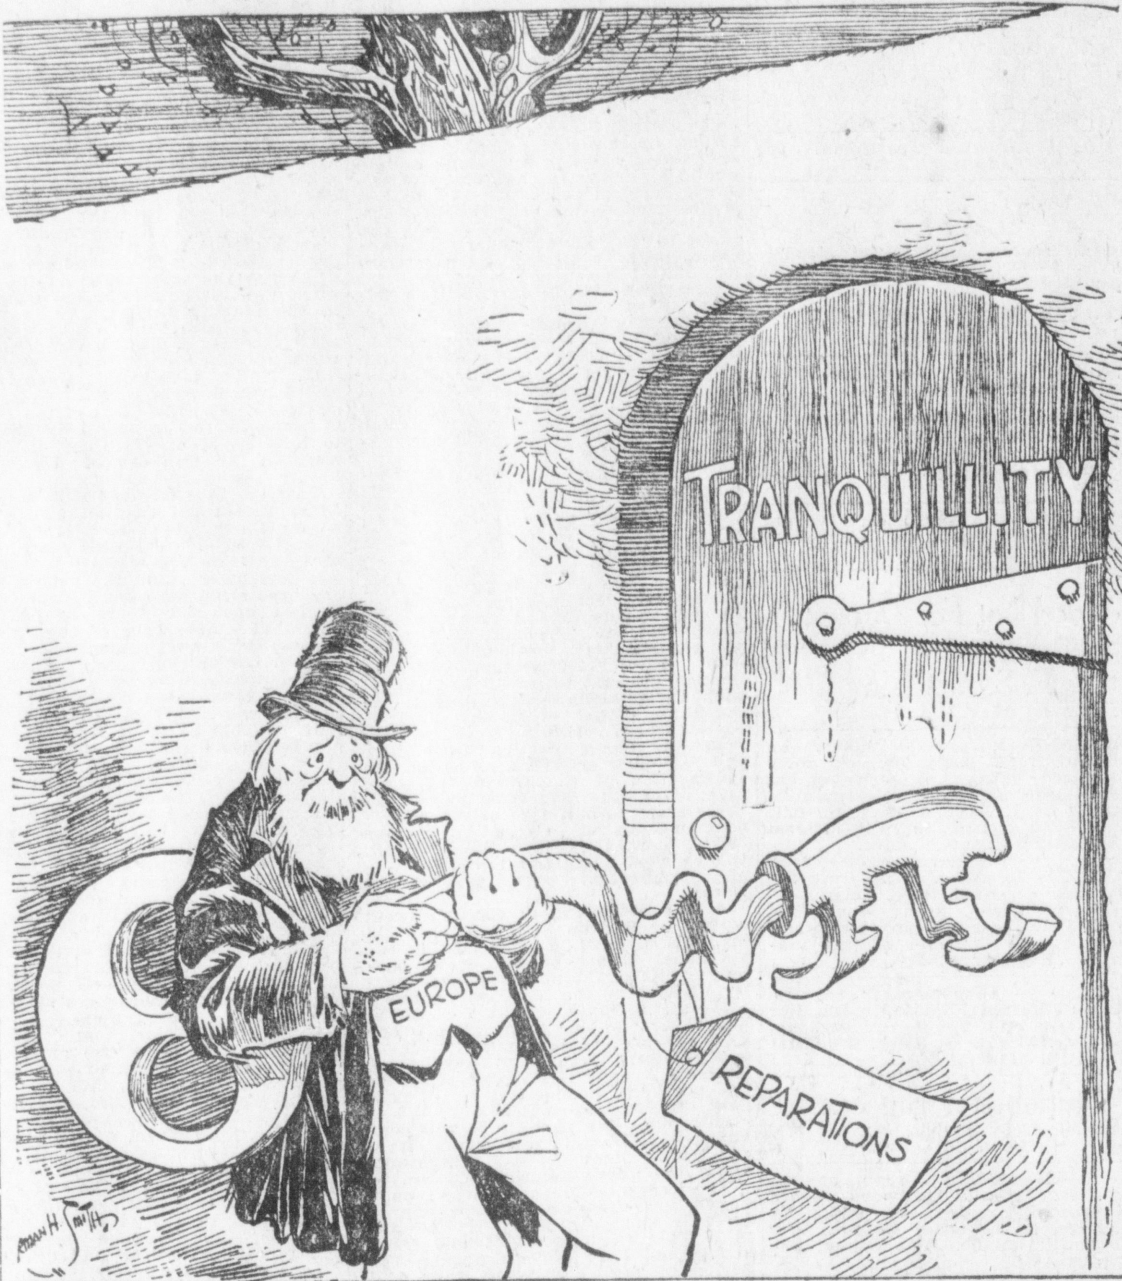

But away down in the little tiny tubes that form the lungs, the juice is so thick and has so far to come to get out, that these little tubes get actually blocked up and a whole section of your lung will become solid—this is pneumonia.

Fortunately there is usually enough lung surface besides this to take care of the needs of your body, and if the heart is sound you'll come through all right.

Nine out of ten people recover from pneumonia usually.

So watch a cold. Try to keep it from extending beyond the nose and throat. Your best protection from a cold is not to overeat and to keep your intestine in good condition.

The Key to the Whole Situation

America's Favorite Songs

AMERICA

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing.
Land where my fathers died!
Land of the Pilgrim's pride!
From ev'ry mountain side,
Let freedom ring!

My native country thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love.
I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills;
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees
Sweet freedom's song.
Let mortal tongues awake;
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break,
The sound prolong.

Our father's God, to Thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing.
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King!

Dozens of nations have used the tune of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" for a national song. The most familiar versions are the English "God Save the King" and the German "Heil dir am Siegerkranz."

We are told, perhaps facetiously, that "the Germans got it from Norsemen, who had heard it sung by the Finns, who most likely captured it from the Huns, who doubtless brought it from Asia when they entered Europe."

Despite the uncertainty as to the composer of "America" there is no doubt as to its author, the Rev. Samuel F. Smith. It was at the age of 24, while a student at Andover Theological Seminary, in 1832, that Dr. Smith wrote the famous anthem.

Smith's Job

It happened that Lowell Mason, the noted composer and organist was interested in some school music books brought back from Germany by William C. Woodbridge, Mason having no knowledge of German, turned them over to Smith and asked him to translate or write new texts.

The young student was attracted by one tune in particular. He noted that the words were patriotic. "And I was instantly inspired," he relates, "to write a patriotic hymn of my own. Seizing a scrap of paper I began to write and in half an hour it was done."

The following Fourth of July the song was sung at a children's celebration in Boston. The author soon began to hear of the hymn being sung widely, and later the Civil War brought it into universal requisition.

Worth While Verse

Beyond my garden wall's confines—
Sweet plot, wherein gay blossoms swing—
Where butterflies, in wanton mood
Brush fairy dust from gaudy wing—
Beyond this prim and staid estate
That hedges in my cherished bloom,
I vision one tall, swaying tree
Against the dusk and purple gloom
That comes with eve; a silhouette
Splashed on an ambient sky of blue.
O, eucalyptus tree so tall,
Who gave such wisdom unto you?

You made your place in vasty reach
Of meadow where the cattle roam;
Selecting for your domicile
Their uncramped range; you call it home,
Wherein your roots may stretch themselves
In healthy growth around your base—
Where your green leaves may bud and break
And lift their eyes to Heaven's face.

Now, had you chosen my green lawn
Or narrow ways of garden plot
To sprout and grow to your estate,
How cramped and crowded then, your lot!
With never room to thrive and spread
And bend your branches 'gainst the blue
Wise tree, I humbly bow to you!

The Patchwork Quilt

THE LITTLE ROADS
The little roads go wandering
across the country brown;
One leads me to the mountains, one leads me to the town.
One goes across the desert with its shadows soft and gray—
Which is the road to follow, will no one point the way?

One takes me to the ocean where the restless billows beat;
One leads me to a little home with curtains clean and neat.
Oh little roads that wander, like you I too would rove.
Which is the one whose windings
will take me to my love?

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

When friends gather at the Little Gray House, conversation veers like a March wind and it's truly amazing what a variety of subjects both gave and gay, are discussed.
Not long ago when a Little group gathered in the close and delightful intimacy which small rooms afford, the subject of names bestowed on animals naturally came up as one member sat with Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm purring gently in her lap.

Now Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm is a very happy little cat. Her home life with Alan-Dale the yellow colts, has been a pleasant one despite the fact that they represent two such widely varying literary fields. Everyone that ever came to the Little Gray House knew them, just as they knew Spark Plug and Barney Google, the two white rats who last August accompanied the Small Son back to Ohio. (Thereby hangs a tale by the way, a rat tale so to speak. Don't forget to remind me some time and I'll tell you of Barney Google's sad but glorious end.)

But anyway speaking of animals and their names, it was suggested that Rebecca would hang her head in modesty in the presence of the three handsome kittens out at the Edward M. Nealey home, the triplet children of Josephine, the serene big maltese mother.

Can you guess what those kittens were named? Not Amy Lowell or Edna St. Vincent Millay or even Edwin Arlington Robinson. No indeed. The age of a majestic philosophy yielded them the dignified cognomens of Plato, Aristotle and Socrates.

And that you may smile yet again, I must tell you ere I wander on, that an Ontario friend whose occasional visits come as a ray of sunshine to the Little Gray House, has a lovely Persian mother cat named Miss Kit who has two round furry babies, Biscuit and Triscuit—or perhaps they are spelled Biss Kit and Triss Kit, or else the mother is spelled Miscuit. I never asked.

CAN'T YOU PICTURE the mischievous little philosopher in the following delightful bit from "Baldads of Immortality?"

THUMB MARKS
Father's in the study,
Mother's in the hall;
I therefore place these thumb marks
Upon the parlor wall.

For once the whipping's over,
The pain will wear away;
But the thumb marks on the parlor wall
Will stay and stay and stay.

BUT DO THEY EVER LIE?
WANTED—Young man, must be

"Think I'll apply, my knowledge of figures has been said to be not negligible," comments Falstaff who evidently likes to read the classified ad columns.

MONDAY'S ARMISTICE DAY celebration at Orange and its parade and drilling called forth from "Everett True" the aged and yet ever-true story about the young sergeant who was having a particularly hard time drilling a bunch of raw recruits.

Finally he paused, and mopping his brow, spoke:

"When I was a boy, my chief treasure was a set of little wooden soldiers. One day they disappeared and I was heart-broken until my mother said, 'Never mind, Son, some day you will have some more wooden soldiers.' And believe me, you bunch of infernal blockheads, that day has come."

L. A. SWEET DISCUSSES ORNAMENTAL LIGHT COST.

Editor Register:—Will you kindly give me a few lines in the Open Forum of The Register relative to ornamental lights? People on West Fifth street were told that the cost of installing the posts and system would be from $70 to $80 per 50 foot footage on the street. The actual cost for installing the complete system on Fifth and Fourth streets is as follows:

Frontage subject to pay, 19,363 feet.
Contract let for $54,800.

That makes a cost of $2.83 per front foot or a cost per lot of $141.50 for 50 feet, about double what the people expected to pay when they signed for the lights.

I came from reading The Register a few days ago that the people who are now signing on North Broadway, South Main and East Fourth are told by the party circulating the petitions that the cost of installation of the system would be about $1.60 per front foot. I was at the council meeting the first night that bids were opened and there was only the one bid as low as $54,800, the other bids were way up—$70,000—and I think some more as high as $80,000, as I remember it. I say if people want the lights on any streets let them circulate their petitions as they do for paving and let them be informed of about the probable actual cost. Then if they want the lights let them have them.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 20—A LETTER IN TIME SAVES ONE

Mister Wild Turkey flew up to a tree top in Dixie Land. He was so fat he couldn't fly very well, but anyway he got there, and he sat looking around him at the world below and feeling very well satisfied with himself.

"Hello!" he gobbled as his sharp eyes made out two little figures climbing the hill toward him. "I'll have to be careful! Here comes two humans. But mercy on us, they aren't much bigger than I am, so I needn't be afraid I guess. Besides, they don't have any of those long iron sticks that explode at one end and make me so nervous."

Nancy and Nick came quite near. "Hello, Mister Turkey, we've been looking for you," called Nick. "That's what everybody says," answered Mister Turkey with a chuckle, "but I usually don't stay they want me for. Some of my friends have stayed and I never saw them again. Well, young man, what is it?"

"The Fairy Queen sent us a letter to give to you," said Nick. "We just found it in the Dixie Land Post Office."

"You don't say so!" exclaimed Mister Turkey. "Why, I never got a letter in my life! Why I'm so excited I'm getting dizzy! I'll have to get down off this tree before I fall."

And down he flew.
But suddenly he looked sober. "I forgot. I can't read unless it's written in Turkish. Is it?"

Nancy laughed. "No, it's written in magic. I'll have to read it to you. Here's what it says:

"Dear Mister Wild Turkey: There is a time coming soon called Thanksgiving. It's a very nice time of the year for most people, but not so good for turkeys. And it's just as bad for wild turkeys as it is for tame turkeys."

"I suppose you think it is queer that so many people in Dixie Land leave so much grain in their grain fields and even scatter pans of it here and there where you can get at it. But it isn't queer at all! They want to get you fat. The fatter the better. But if you don't eat for awhile you'll get thin and you'll be far safer. If I were you I'd starve myself for a spell. And I would go and live on a mountain top until Thanksgiving is over."

"The Fairy Queen." "You'd better go," advised Nick. "I've started already," said Mister Gobbler, flapping his wings. (To Be Continued)
